Some members favor income tax

Possible solutions to city's fund crisis eyed by Council

By GEORGE MALEK

Two firm conclusions were reached by members of the Washington C.H. City Council Monday afternoon—the city has a financial problem, and the solution will be unpopular. However, just which unpopular remedy will be adopted was pondered.

From the depths of despair over the 1976 budget came rumblings of once again imposing an income tax on the residents of Washington C.H.

Council met in special session in the city offices. The meeting was opened at 4 p.m., and Council members immediately retired to another office for private discussions on the city's sick leave policy and a recommendation to the Carnegie Public Library board of trustees.

They returned at 4:15 p.m. to discuss the number one order of business, the 1976 budget deficit.

City Manager George H. Shapter opened the meeting by noting that he had investigated two possible sources of revenue which Council might wish to pursue. He said a court decision might allow the city to transfer some $50,000 from the storm sewer improvement fund to the general fund, and the Fayette County Budget Commission might free some property tax money which it had previously assigned to debt service only.

The budget commission had mandated that all $67,590 of the city's 1.7 mills in inside millage be designated to payment of debt service, or payment of city bonds.

Since the time of the budget commission's ruling, Shapter has shown that not all of that amount is really necessary to meet 1976 bond obligations. Although Fayette County prosecuting attorney James A. Kiger has found no procedure by which Council can request a meeting of the budget commission to reconsider its mandate on the inside millage, Shapter is continuing to pursue the matter. He estimates that as much as $50,000 might be available at the end of 1976 in the debt service account. He noted, however, that such action would leave a greater debt for 1977, and additional monies would be needed to meet the city's obligation at that time.

Council member Ralph L. Cook noted that the monies in the storm sewer fund had been voted upon to be used specifically for storm sewer improvements, and that Council had a moral obligation to leave that money in the storm sewer fund. He noted that several storm sewer projects have been halted in mid-stream while the sanitary sewer program is being undertaken, and they should be resumed at a later date. After a short discussion, Council agreed that it should not seek court action to transfer these funds.

Council member Eddie Fisher stated that it was time Council stopped "Robbing Peter to pay Paul." He noted that if bond monies or storm funds were transferred, the problem of funds would be compounded in 1977 when money would be needed in those funds as well as the general fund. This has happened several times in the past and has resulted in the grim situation now at hand, and it is time Council dealt with the problem headon, Fisher concluded.

Council member Billie Wilson added that while the city is current in its obligations to bonded indebtedness, it has several notes on which no principal has been paid for the past two years. These notes will have to be paid in the near future, and Council must prepare for that time, Wilson said.

The city manager stressed that Council did not have the authority to simply transfer the storm monies even if it had desired to do so. It would require approval from Common Pleas Court, he said.

The discussion became sluggish as all Council members reiterated, "We have a very serious problem," but no one offered any concrete means of solving it.

Since Council had not been receptive to the expense reduction plan presented by the finance committee at the last Council meeting, Mrs. Bertha McCullough, committee chairman, singled out individual members of the legislative body to present their recommendations.

Cook said he would vote for no personnel cuts in the various service departments. He said the voter's true sentiments on an income tax have never really been known, and he felt an income tax was the solution. The contact he has had with city residents this month indicates they prefer an income tax to a reduction of services, he said.

Cook suggested hiring a few people for a couple weeks to make a house-by-house telephone poll of city residents asking only "Would you prefer a reduction in services or a one-half per cent income tax?" He was confident that a tax would be favored, he stated. Cook said the previous election (November's general election) did not give an accurate assessment of the voters' feelings.

One-third of the voters wanted property taxes, not an income tax. One-third wanted an income tax, but not property taxes, and the other one-third were opposed to any tax, Cook said. As a result, all taxes were defeated. This does not mean the citizens are opposed to an income tax, he concluded.

Council member John Morris echoed similar sentiments. He said the voters had made it clear that they did not want a one per cent tax, but felt a half per cent tax would produce $130,000 to $150,000, and be sufficient to get the city through the year. Council has never really "sold" an income tax to the public, he added.

Both Morris and Cook said the budget document prepared by the city manager should make it abundantly clear that more revenue was needed while showing where the need exists. They said it would be the first time voters would see where their money was going.

Mrs. McCullough and Fisher supported their original contention that an income tax was not the answer. They felt the voters had made it clear they wanted no income tax. The only method of balancing the budget is to cut expenses, they said. They added that it would be impossible to cut $130,000 from the general fund expenses with making personnel reductions.

No one wants to cut personnel, Fisher added, but "we are responsible, and someone has to make a responsible decision."

Mrs. McCullough suggested saving $27,000 by turning off all street lights, $3,000 to $5,000 by eliminating the city recreation program, and $11,300 by contributing no funds to the cemetery

Demos deride Ford program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford will send Congress a $394.2-billion budget tomorrow, but congressional Democrats are already attacking it and marshaling their strength for imminent veto battles to test their strength in the election-year spending dispute.

The outlines of the budget Ford will submit Wednesday were made clear in his State of the Union message Monday night as he urged spending restraint and renewed his proposal for a balancing income tax cut.

In his address, Ford said the nation's condition was better now than it was a year ago but that it's still not good enough. He proposed cutting income taxes by $10 billion, raising Social Security levies $4.2 billion, adding catastrophic health insurance for Medicare recipients, encouraging business expansion by offering new tax incentives and providing housing assistance for 500,000 families.

A White House data sheet announcing the budget total for the 12 months beginning next Oct. 1 says the budget will be $43 billion in deficit. The deficit for the current fiscal year is estimated at $76 billion.

Democrats responded with a chorus of charges that Ford was putting what they called an arbitrary spending ceiling ahead of the needs of the unemployed in an economy just beginning to recover.

The Democrats also signaled that the forthcoming disputes over vetoes and the federal budget will bear the seeds for future political issues in this election year.

Ford raised some political themes in his address, possibly trying out "new realism" as a campaign slogan and obliquely criticizing his Republican opponent, Ronald Reagan.

The first veto dispute comes next Tuesday when the House will vote whether to override Ford's veto of a $45-billion labor-health, education and welfare appropriation heavy with funding for social programs. They would need a two-thirds vote to override, and the outcome is in doubt.

House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., said Ford's economic plan would throw an additional 200,000 persons out of work. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Ford failed "to come to grips with the problem of unemployment and the sluggishness of our economy."

In another major squabble between the Democratic Congress and Ford, the House votes next Tuesday on a $112-billion defense appropriation that contains a ban on using U.S. funds to help any faction in the Angolan civil war. The Senate already has approved the ban.

"We must not face a future in which we can no longer help our friends, such as in Angola, even in limited and carefully controlled ways ...," Ford told Congress in the nationally broadcast address.

He said such actions as the Senate's vote for the Angola-funds ban were "very shortsighted."

House Speaker Carl Albert has said he cannot conceive of Congress approving Angola aid on the basis of arguments put forward by the administration. Albert called Ford's spending restraint-tax reduction plan unworkable.

Ford said his tax-cut and spending-ceiling proposal, essentially the one Congress refused to vote last year, would provide a $10-billion tax reduction in addition to the compromise cut in effect until midyear. He said it would mean $227 a year in additional take-home pay for a family of four with $15,000 income.

But Ford also proposed an increase in another tax, the payroll levy paid by employers and employes to support the Social Security system that has been running a deficit and dipping into its reserves.

Effective in 1977, the increase would raise the maximum tax paid by an employe to $1,014, up from $855 this year. All but $49 of this proposed hike might occur anyway under automatic provisions of present law.

Ford also proposed a revision in the Medicare health program for the aged. It would cost the over-65 patients more for shortterm illnesses, but set a $740-a-year ceiling on what they could be charged for covered services. The limit, he said, would protect them against catastrophic costs for serious illness.

While Ford's message forshadowed clashes on a number of issues with the Democratic majority in Congress, it also staked out some positions that would set him apart from Reagan.

While Reagan has proposed large-scale transfers of federal programs to the states, Ford came out for tightening rather than abolishing federal welfare programs.

Ford also called for what he described as "long overdue reform of the scandal-ridden food stamp program." A major change would limit benefits to those whose net income is below the poverty level, currently $5,050 for a family of four.

He said temporary extensions of special unemployment benefits will continue in 1976 and that he will ask for continued job training funds in 1977.

He renewed his call for a five-year extension of federal revenue-sharing with states and localities.

Ford advanced two plans he said would stimulate needed business investment.

One would provide fast depreciation of productive facilities, aimed especially at areas of high unemployment — which under present circumstances would cover much of the country.

Another would be designed to encourage persons of moderate income to buy stock in U.S. firms. The purchase price for such long-term investments could be deducted for tax purposes, with the proceeds to be subject to tax only if cashed in later.

To make it easier for heirs to retain family farms and businesses, Ford said the estate tax on such inheritances should be postponed and stretched out.

He also said he will propose programs to help lower-income persons rent and buy homes through subsidies affecting 500,000 dwelling units, at the same time helping the lagging housing industry.

Saying the country needs a strong defense posture to strengthen its hand in international negotiations and keep its alliances vigorous, he said he will submit an increased defense budget.

Warning against "the crippling of our foreign intelligence services," Ford said, "I will take actions to reform and strengthen our intelligence community. I ask for your positive cooperation. It is time to go beyond sensationalism. . ."

Greenfield girl killed in crash

A 15-year-old Greenfield girl who was a passenger in a car driven by her older sister was killed in a single-car accident on Ohio 41-S, four-tenths of a mile north of the Barrett Road intersection, at 2:10 p.m. Monday.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported Penny Lynn Mossbarger, 444 South St., Greenfield, was pronounced dead on arrival at Fayette County Memorial Hospital from injuries suffered in the crash about three miles north of Greenfield.

Chief Deputy Robert W. McArthur, who headed the investigation at the scene, said a car driven by Pamela D. Mossbarger, 19, of 444 South St., Greenfield, traveled out of control while heading north on Ohio 41. The auto slid broadside across the road and into a fence owned by Joe Hidy, 10098 Ohio 41-S.

The victim, a sophomore at Greenfield McClain High School, was thrown from the auto, and according to the report, the car dragged her body into a barbed wire fence on the Hidy farm. The auto came to rest on top of the youth's body, deputies reported.

Pamela Mossbarger suffered a scalp laceration in the mishap and was treated and released at Fayette County Memorial Hospital.

Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson and Sheriff's Sgt. William R. Crooks who were also on the scene stated they did not believe seat belts were in use.

The auto was only moderately damaged.

Born in Greenfield, Miss Mossbarger was a member of the First United Methodist Church, the senior youth fellowship organization at the church and the girls' glee club and Future Teacher Association at McClain High School.

She is survived by her parents, Dean and Edith Hughes Mossbarger, 444 South St., Greenfield; two sisters, Mrs. Donald (Pamela) Charles, of Greenfield, and Pamela Mossbarger, at home; two brothers, Phillip Mossbarger, of Tuscon, Ariz., and Pat Mossbarger, at home; and her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mossbarger, of Greenfield.

Services will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday in the First United Methodist Church, Greenfield, with the Rev. Clarence Dinnen officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Orab Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Murray Funeral Home, Greenfield, after 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Snow, ice storms roam over state

By The Associated Press

The Coast Guard has issued a warning about Lake Erie ice conditions after a helicopter had to be called from Detroit to help rescue 10 persons from an ice floe that started drifting away from shore near Port Clinton.

Freezing rain and snow began an advance across the state from the west Monday, trailing icy roads, especially in the state's northernwestern and southwestern corners.

Coast Guardsmen said a 14-foot aluminum ice skiff from Marblehead helped the helicopter bring the fishermen safely ashore Monday at Catawba. Ninth District Coast Guard headquarters in Cleveland said the ice fishermen were trapped when a sudden wind shift brought gale force breezes out of the southwest, and the ice started to break up and move offshore.

Residents along the lake were warned to keep off the ice and to warn children of the danger of walking out from shore.

Fifteen-year-old Penny Mossbarger of Greenfield was killed Monday, when the car she was riding in skidded out of control near Washington Court House. The Fayette County sheriff's office said she was tossed from the car and then crushed by it.

The skid could have been caused by ice, authorities said.

Police in Franklin, near Cincinnati, said 13 cars were involved in one accident at Interstate 75 at Ohio 73. Six cars skidded off a ramp and the others ploughed into them, authorities said.

A police cruiser and a fire department ambulance were demolished in the wreck.

Cincinnati police logged reports of 404 accidents on rainslick streets between 3 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Latonia Race Track called off racing. Its managers said track conditions were acceptable but roads were so bad they expected no fans.

Kentucky State Police said roads in the northern part of their state were particularly hard hit by the freezing rain.

St. Elizabeth Hospital in Covington, Ky., said 30 nurses failed to arrive for work because of hazardous driving.

Snowfall amounts across Ohio ranged from two to four inches in northeastern counties to one to two inches elsewhere.

Numerous school closings were reported around Cincinnati after two inches of snow were dumped in the area.

One traffic death and at least two injuries were reported on icy streets in the city Monday.

Travelers advisories that were in effect for Ohio Monday were cancelled late in the day.

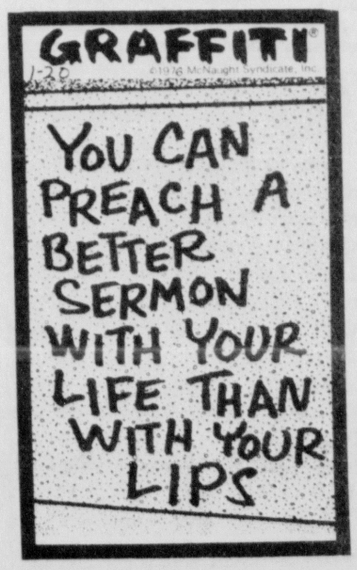

Winter began to relax its grip on Ohio early today and brisk southerly breezes pushed temperatures 20s and 30s over most of the state.

Snow closes MT schools

Snow fell throughout the night, commencing shortly after 10 p.m. and attaining a build up of about two inches by early morning. The snow-covered roads slowed traffic and forced cancellation of classes in the Miami Trace School District for the fourth time this winter.

Maximum temperatures during the night did not top the 34-degree mark, but they did hover around that figure, providing relatively warmer air than the night before, according to Coyt A. Stookey, official Washington C. H. weather observer.

The Fayette Progressive School was closed, but all classes in the Washington C. H. School District were in session.

Government rejects rail proposal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's rail transportation plan has been rejected by the federal government, apparently barring the state from any federal funding for rail lines now on the brink of abandonment, a federal official says.

Judd Gould, Ohio contact officer for the federal Rail Services Planning Office in Washington, said state officials probably will learn of the rejection today.

Gould said the rejection represents the latest failure by Ohio's state government to cope with the changing rail system.

Unless state officials realize they stand to lose 850 mfles of rail line within the next three months, Gould said, the reorganization of the nation's railroads may be completed without Ohio taking part.

Unless Ohio begins to hustle, Gould said, millions of dollars in federal subsidies will be lost and the 850 miles of lesser-used track will be abandoned, possibly by the first of April. Employers located along those lines have said previously that losing the track will mean closing their factories.

Gould laid the problem at the feet of Gov. James A. Rhodes and, to a lesser extent, the General Assembly and the attorney general.

"Ohio has never received the kind of support from the governor's office, even the legislature, that was needed," he said. "Rhodes has never shown any appreciation for the problems they have."

He cited as an example the present status of the Ohio Department of Transportation.

"That agency is devoid of any rail experience," Gould said. "Under the Rhodes administration, they kicked out a lot of guys with rail experience that could have done a hell of a job.

"Now, they've got two guys — nice guys, but they're highway engineers with no rail experience. And the work that was put out was really inferior work," he said.

He said while Ohio had two highway engineers prepare the state rail plan, most states had 10 to 12 railroad experts working on their plans.

Gould said state rail legislation has been enacted with little understanding by most legislators of the problems involved and the attorney general has failed to work with federal rail planners on legal problems.

As a result, he said, "It's conceivable that Ohio is going to miss out on the potential subsidies."

The subsidies are included in a bill now in a Congressional conference committee. The bill is expected to go to President Ford this week providing 100 per cent federal funding for the track marked for abandonment, at least for one year.

The bill is expected to provide 90 per cent federal subsidy for the lines in the second year, Gould said, and probably will provide 70 per cent federal funding through the fifth year of the rail reorganization plan.

But unless Ohio can draft an acceptable rail plan quickly, Gould said, "they can't even use the 100 per cent subsidy."

Gould said his office has been frustrated in attempts to get Ohio state government interested in saving Ohio's rail system.

"Very few people have a vested interest in rails in Ohio," Gould noted. He said the small businessman will be affected by the rail problems, not big business, and that appears to be a major part of the problem.

Rail problems in Ohio have been spoken about for almost a year, but have drawn little attention except from Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo.

Wilkowski pushed through legislation creating an Ohio Rail Transportation Authority to deal with the problem and drafted a constitutional amendment which would allow Ohio to participate in the federal subsidy program.

But the amendment was defeated at the polls last November, and members of the rail authority were not appointed until about the first of this year.

As a result, Gould said, Ohio lags badly.

Ohio's problems are tied to reorganization of seven bankrupt rail lines in the Northeast and Midwest. Under federal law, the lines will become a government-supported private railroad named the Consolidated Rail Corp., or ConRail.

The law which created ConRail specified it has to aim at making a profit, and its sytem plan calls for dropping rail sections which are not paying their way. That includes the 850 miles in Ohio.

But to alleviate the economic problem caused by abandoning the lines, Congress promised a subsidy program which would allow the state to pick up part of the loss, with the federal government picking up the rest.

It is that subsidy program which now is undergoing final touchups in the congressional conference committee. And it is from that subsidy program which, Gould said, Ohio may be excluded.

City Council

fund for upkeep on the grounds. She did not claim to like cutting these funds, but said Council had to live within the budget the yoters had established.

She and Council member James Ward were the only two members who began to approach the details of where the budget might be cut. Ward said although his ideas might be unpopular, it was time someone got to the "nitty-gritty" of the matter.

"If Council needs an axe man, I'll start," Ward said. He suggested not hiring policemen to replace the two recent department retirees, combining the police and fire departments into one unit, getting rid of the building inspector, and eliminating holiday and overtime pay for policemen and firemen. These are not firmly studied recommendations, he stressed, they're just ideas, but everyone seems "afraid" to let their ideas on budget cuts be seen, he said.

Wilson said he felt Council should "cut to suit the pattern" presented by voters, but offered no details on where the cutting should take place. He felt the debt on municipal parking lot No. 2 should be bonded over 20 to 25 years to free some monies there and the city manager should continue to his efforts to free part of the inside millage for general operating money. If the debt on the lot is bonded, he said, the budget commission might be more inclined to allow return of some of the millage.

Morris then said that he could not see the 24 per cent across the board cut proposed by the finance committee. If cuts are made, priorities should be established, he said. Cutting all street lights may tend to harbor crime, but that is better than not having a policeman (due to department cuts) available to respond to a call when a criminal has been seen under the lights. He then turned to the audience (which included three firemen) and said he definitely would not tell city employes that they would just have to go without first trying an income tax.

In order to avoid creating the impression that Council was "ramming" the tax on the citizens, he suggested passing an ordinance for a half per cent tax to become effective in 90 days. That way if a petition is circulated to remove the tax, it can be done before the first penny is collected, Morris said. In this way, the voters do have a choice in the matter. He concluded by saying that Council had never "alley fought" to convince the taxpayers that an income tax was needed.

Fisher responded to these statements by saying he would "applaud anyone who could 'sell' an income tax," and he did not want personnel cuts. However, he added, until he had "proof" that the voters wanted it, he felt budget cuts were the only solution.

Fisher then suggested that Council authorize the city manager to meet with department heads to investigate where budgets could be trimmed.

Council chairman Joseph O'Brien then summarized the points presented thus far in the discussion. He cited cutting the cemetery fund, having the city manager meet with department heads, imposition of a half per cent income tax, the opposition to personnel cuts and the bonding of the parking lot.

Wilson noted that since the city had lost its requested 2.3 mills in taxes which were presented on the November ballot and stood to lose two more mills at the end of 1976, revenue sharing funds for 1977 might be eliminated altogether.

Fisher agreed and made a motion that Council authorize the city manager to investigate possible budget cuts and prepae the mechanisms for placing the previously-defeated 2.3 mills in tax levies on the primary ballot June 8. After considerable discussion, the motion passed by a 6-1 vote with Morris opposing it.

Cook then returned the discussions to an income tax and asked Fisher how many signatures he would need to see on a petition before he would vote for an income tax. Fisher said he could not set a number, but Cook demanded one saying that Council can't ask the citizens to circulate petitions for a tax if it will be ignored anyway.

Half jumping out of their seats, Fisher and Mrs. McCullough said they "aren't asking anyone" to get petitions.

Cook, obviously confident that petitions would be circulated, again asked what number would be required. Fisher finally relented that if he saw 2,000 signatures he would be convinced, and Mrs. McCullough reluctantly agreed. O'Brien said 1,000 would sufficently convince him.

Ward said he was inclined to simply let the voters petition to place an income tax on the ballot themselves if they were interested in seeing one.

At 5:30 p.m., a motion to adjourn was presented, and it was approved by a 6-1 vote.

Ward objected saying that Council had "accomplished nothing." "If we can't unite. . .how can we say (to the citizens) 'this is the best road.' "

He said when a business has more expenses than revenue, it cuts services, and indicated that a greater effort should be made to outline a plan for cutting the budget.

Carter leads in Iowa tally

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter says he's "tremendously encouraged" by backing given him by Iowa's Democrats in the nation's first contest among presidential hopefuls or grassroots support.

Carter, who led a field of six candidates for the party's presidential nomination in voting during Monday's precinct caucuses, credited "a large and dedicated group" of volunteers for his success in Iowa.

With reports from 2,080, or 82 per cent, of the state's 2,530 voting precincts counted, Carter held 27.7 per cent of the delegates picked for March 6 county conventions. The county meetings are the next step in selecting Iowa's 47 national convention delegates.

Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana was second with 13.3 per cent of the delegates, followed by former Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma with 10.1 per cent.

Stock list still mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, running up against profit taking pressures in an extremely busy session on Wall Street.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 2.13 at 941.59, while gainers maintained a moderate over-all lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the near-record pace of activity resulted from heavy profit taking piled on top of continued buying prompted by signs of an improving economy and the recent decline in interest rates. There appeared to be no decisive reaction in the market either way to President Ford's State of the Union Message Monday night.

Middle South Utilities was the most active issue on the Big Board, unchanged at 16. A 403-100-share block traded at that price.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks slipped .06 to 52.01. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .02 at 92.83.

Volume on the Big Board reached 17.20 million shares over the first two hours.

Poor driving in bad weather

One of the most dangerous people on the road is the fellow who regards bad weather as a challenge rather than as a signal for caution. When driving conditions are poor he behaves as though it were a point of honor to take no notice. He bulls his way through fog, rain, sleet, snow; he skates across ice patches and wet-slick places, speed unslackened and a curl of disdain on his lip for drivers old-maidish enough to slow down.

That kind of driver is a menace to everyone else on the road - not to mention hemself. He adds a further dimension to the hazards of travel. Those hazards are bad enough on a dry straightaway in clear weather; They're worse when a tricky road surface and uncertain visibility are added to the equation, and worst of all when someone is barreling along without regard to conditions.

On the road you can't do much about the driver who takes bad weather as a challenge. But you can avoid being one.

WASHINGTON CALLING...By Marquis Childs

The world won't wait

SAN FRANCISCO — Being out of the country at the start of a new year — and particularly a new presidential election year — gives one a different perspective on events. Most important, it lets you know there's a whole world out there with lots of problems that need solving and lots of issues that require careful consideration.

The trouble is that we here in the United States often forget that when we can least afford to do so. To us, as 1976 was ushered in, it was the start of the Year of Decision, which would end with a new president, elected by the people, putting together a new government. Nothing else can be allowed to interfere with our concentration on choosing a new national leader.

But the world beyond our borders keeps functioning while we play our electoral games. Whether near or far, whether in Angola or in Mexico City, the tides of change will not stand still.

So much of the past is taken for granted, and nowhere does that apply more aptly than to Mexico, where I have just been. You feel no one really cares. It is this attitude that may have inspired a friend with broad knowledge of and participation in government to suddenly say: "What would you think if there was a Cuba on your southern border with a population of 55 million or more to cope with?"

This was a largely rhetorical question, since there is general agreement that Mexico is stable, at least on the surface, even though the government of President Luis Echeverria has used rugged means to suppress uprisings, like the Sept. 23 movement.

Echeverria has endeavored through the United Nations and his extensive travels around the world to line up Latin America with the Third World. His Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States, an attempt to strike a balance between the raw material production of the underdeveloped nations and the prices of the manufactured goods of developed countries, drew approval in the U.N. General Assembly by a vote of 114 to 3 with 11 abstentions. One of the three "no" votes was from the United States.

The opposition in Washington puts this down to Echeverria's wish to become a Third World leader and, when his six-year term ends in December, U.N. secretary general.

The conventional diplomacy of the past seems both too little and too late. But what might take its place no one seems to know or, for that matter, to care.

The dependence south of the border on the United States is great. Tourism has consistently supplied more than $600 million annually, an essential element for Mexico's balance of payments.

In the past few years, government financing has created a brand new resort area at Cancun in the Yucatan Peninsula out of what was once a swamp. Already, 12 hotels have gone up, many like the Cancun Caribe handsomely designed on the luxury scale at a $90-a-day rate that included two meals. Slick magazines in the United States are touting this newest Caribbean playground.

It is in Yucatan that the new Mexico confronts the relics of the great civilizations that flourished here before the Spanish conquest. And it is in the Yucatan that one can get a quick idea about what happens to a civilization that cares only about itself and thinks the world ends at its borders.

The Mayan warriors atop their temple could hardly have forseen this new civilization nor could they have been prepared for the decline and fall of what must have seemed a solid, if highly rigid, way of life.

They were too much interested in themselves to see the world moving fast towards them. And, in the end, luxury hotels replace the glories of past ages, professors seek to decode the Mayan tongue, and an ancient and great civilization is remembered for its ruins.

So it could be with us. The world is moving fast but we decide to ignore it while we go through our quadrennial exercise of choosing a leader. One wonders.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

You should win top-grade returns from your efforts now. Adhere to well-tested procedure. Emphasize your individualism and perceptiveness.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Curb an inclination to take on more than you can reasonably handle. You will only scatter energies and accomplish less in the long run.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

How you accept vicissitudes AND advantages will mean the difference between just getting by and doing well. This day has the makings of a big success story if you are alert.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Small matters may conspire to try and keep you from accomplishing what you set out to do - and must. Be firm! Direct energies only to worthwhile areas.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

An old acquaintance will do you a very good turn - quite unexpectedly. In fact, your relationships with others, generally, should be unusually congenial.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Don't permit trifles to be blown out of proportion. The mountain which grows from a molehill is usually unbelieveably difficult to conquer.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Keep plans flexible; changing situations could make revision necessary. On the personal side: romance and cultural interests highly favored.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You are one of the few in a position to take strong and progressive action now, but be careful not to make too many waves. A certain amount of discretion needed.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Influences somewhat adverse toward financial matters. Don't make unnecessary purchases and don't let your natural optimism led you into speculative ventures.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Information needed to consummate a business deal now forthcoming. With the added facts on hand, proceed as originally planned.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Some difficulty in personal relationships indicated. Persons close to you may be unresponsive, even hostile to your plans. But hold your temper lest small arguments escalate out of all proportion.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Neither borrow nor lend now. Even small, "friendly" transactions are likely to cause some unpleasantness in the future.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with great pride, versatility and discrimination. Your goals are lofty ones and, with your many talents and perseverance, you usually attain them. If you take up an artistic profession - and you do have talents along this line, you would do exceptionally well at painting, dancing or playing a musical instrument. In other fields, you could succeed as a teacher, librarian, politician or writer.

"SO WHAT? THIS LINE DIDN'T MOVE LAST YEAR EITHER."

Ohio Perspective

Solons hear pet peeves

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's lawmakers converge on Columbus every January with a new list of their constituents' pet peeves, usually armed with bills to make the necessary corrections.

This year was no exception, as senators and representatives flooded legislative hoppers with proposals affecting everything from barking dogs to glue sniffers and drunk drivers.

The number that make it through the legislative process is another matter, but in an election year—with all 99 House members' and 16 of 33 senators' seats up for grabs—who can say?

Rep. William G. Batchelder, R-93 Medina, brought in a bill making it a minor misdemeanor to harbor "any dog which makes unreasonably loud or excessive noise other than when indicating the presence of a trespasser ...." Owners unable to prove their dog's proper motivation could end up paying a $100 fine.

At least one member of the legislature, which has been tough on drunk drivers in recent years, wants to ease up a bit in one area. Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin, suggests letting Ohioans whose licenses have been suspended for drunk driving use their vehicles to commute to their jobs.

In a related area, Sen. Neil F. Zimmers Jr., D-5 Dayton, believes too many motorists are on the highways without being able to see clearly. His new bill would require vision tests as a prerequisite to getting a license renewed.

Sen. Charles L. Butts, D-23 D-23 Cleveland, offered what sounds like a new wrinkle to combat glue sniffing, especially among school pupils where the problem has been most prevalent. He would require manufacturers to put into model airplane glue and similar products an additive to make sniffers ill.

Other measures would require pawn brokers to photograph customers to help trace stolen merchandise and require a state license for marriage counselling.

Under other pending legislation, Ohioans could fill up their own gasoline tanks at self service stations—allegedly for about two cents a gallon less and find the telephone numbers of police, fire departments, and ambulance services listed on pay telephones.

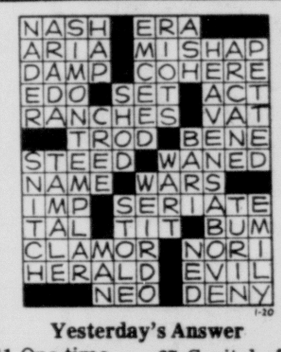

Rep. Gene Damschroder, R-85 Fremont, apparently feels some constituents' peeves may be against the lawmakers themselves for making too much money and serving in Columbus too long.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: THERE SHOULD BE TELLERS OF FUNNY STORIES TO VISIT THE SICK. A GOOD FUNNY STORY IS AN ELIXIR OF LIFE. — CHRISTIAN MORGENSTERN

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Her father wants proof boyfriend is eligible

DEAR ABBY: I am 16, nearly 17, and I'm an honor student. I have always had a good relationship with my parents-until now.

About three months ago I met the most wonderful guy in the world. I'll call him Sammy. It was love at first sight! Sammy is really 23, but we told my parents he is 20 because if they knew how old he was, they wouldn't let me go with him. Sammy is also divorced and has a 3-year-old son who lives with his ex-wife. We didn't tell my parents about the little boy. We just told them that Sammy was divorced.

Sammy wants to marry me, but we don't plan on getting married until I am finished with school.

The problem is my father. He has a very suspicious mind. He says I can't see Sammy again until Sammy produces legal evidence of his divorce.

Abby, I trust Sammy, but I'm afraid if I ask him to show my father proof of his divorce, Sammy will be so hurt and insulted at having been called a liar he will quit seeing me. Don't you think my father is being unreasonable?

I love Sammy so much, I can't live without him. Please help me.

SAMMY'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Sorry, I'm inclined to go along with your father. You and Sammy are already withholding facts about Sammy's real age and his son, which is deceitful. If Sammy doesn't want to bring all the facts out in the open, he's less than "wonderful." Be wise. Listen to your father.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, age 64. Last year I met a man my age whose wife had died the year before.

We are in love. He would be an ideal mate except for one thing. He is very egotistical and likes to see how he registers with other wome (waitresses, especially.) In other words, he tries to make me jealous.

This is a small town and there are no men around with whom I can make him jealous, so I am unable to get even.

Please tell me how to handle this successfully.

HURT AND JEALOUS

DEAR HURT: Don't try to fight fire with fire unless you want your chances to go up in smoke.

Tell him frankly that you are hurt and jealous when he flirts with other women. (He'll be flattered.) If he doesn't cut out the flirting after that, you'll know he doesn't care how you feel.

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago I had a son out of wedlock. We talked of marriage, but it never came about.

I named my son after his father, (first, middle and last name) with his approval.

I would like to know if it is illegal or immoral to name an out-of-wedlock child after his father.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: It is not illegal. But if the father has a legitimate son named after him, two sons with identical names could create embarrassment and confusion. And to intentionally create such a situation, when it could have been avoided, I think is morally wrong.

DEAR ABBY: About that bride who didn't want any fat bridesmaids to ruin the appearance of her wedding: I hope her fat friends will remember her with "skinny" wedding gifts!

In 1941, Franklin Roosevelt became the first U.S. President to be inaugurated for a third term.

In 1953, General Dwight Eisenhower took the oath as the 34th American President.

In 1970, the United States and Communist China resumed diplomatic talks in Warsaw after a two-year lapse.

Ten years ago: India's new leader, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, accepted an invitation to confer with President Lyndon Johnson in Washington.

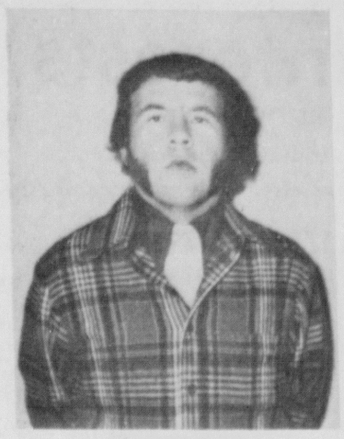

Five years ago: Postal workers in Britain went on strike, shutting off all mail service.

One year ago: Britain abandoned plans that had been made with France for a tunnel under the English Channel to link the two countries.

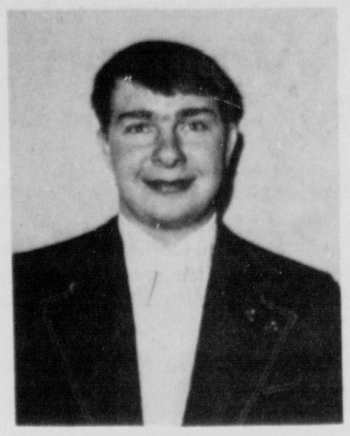

Today's birthdays: Comedian George Burns is 80. Actress Patricia Neal is 50.

Thought for today: The past, at least, is secure — Daniel Webster, American lawyer and statesman, 1782-1852.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the Virginia Convention in Williamsburg declared that the best way to oppose British oppression would be to open all American ports to trade with all countries except Britain.

Marriage vows exchanged in lovely holiday setting

Miss Cindy Mountcastle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mountcastle of Jeffersonville, became the bride of Grayson Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Robinson, also of Jeffersonville. The Rev. Eugene Griffith performed the marriage ceremony in the Jeffersonville United Methodist Church, Dec. 27.

Miss Dawn Schlichter and Bud Mountcastle, brother of the bride, presented wedding selections. Mrs. John Baird, friend of the family, was the organist.

Four seven-branch candelabra, entwined with greenery made the background for the lovely candlelight ceremony. Poinsettias also were around the altar and each pew was decorated with an aisle candle also trimmed with greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight satin. Her A-line skirt with fingertip train, had a bodice with V-neckline and the cuffs on the long sleeves were trimmed with lace. Her only jewelry was a cross pendant, a gift from the groom. She carried a colonial bouquet of red spider carnations, and red sweetheart roses, with holly and pine.

Miss Dee Lange, maid of honor, wore a formal length green velvet dress trimmed with white lace. The Misses Lee Ann White, Julie Frost and Marlene Braun, served as bridesmaids. Their dresses were identical to that of the maid of honor, only in red velvet. All carried small hurricane lanterns adorned with holly and greenery and ribbon which matched their dresses.

Michael Young served as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Dean Keith, Bob Thornberry and Rick Roach.

Mrs. Mountcastle, mother of the bride, chose a formal length dress of salmon pink, and a corsage of mint green carnations. The bridegroom's mother chose a green dress with geometric designs, and a corsage of red carnations.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Hostesses for the reception held at the church were the Misses Kim Fleming, Robin Cunningham, Patty Persinger and Mary Jo Thornton. Marianne Arnold presided at the guest book.

Following a wedding trip, the couple is residing at 12378 Ohio Rt. 729, Jeffersonville.

Teen talent show set April 10

The Washington C. H. Kiwanis Club finalized the date for this year's teen talent show at Monday's weekly meeting.

The annual event has been set for Saturday, April 10 in the Washington C. H. Middle School auditorium.

Also during the meeting, a short memorial service led by Rev. Gerald Wheat was held to honor Judge Reed Winegardner, who died in Columbus Monday morning. The late judge was a charter member of the club and he helped to arrange many special programs for the club.

Later, the club's board of directors voted to make contribution to the American Field Service (AFS) programs at both Miami Trace and Washington Senior high schools. Local AFS students have been special guests of the club in recent weeks. At next Monday's meeting, Marie Hatinguais a student at Washington Senior High School will speak on her native country, France.

During the board meeting a thank you note from Carl Whitaker of the Fayette County Progressive School was read. The note expressed the schools' appreciation for a recent contribution made by the club.

Attendance pins were presented to club members Ken Hughes for one year perfect attendance and Ora Burdge for two years perfect attendance at club meetings.

Firemen rescue boy from under tressel

The rain which fell Monday afternoon and turned into ice resulted in a young Washington C. H. boy being stranded beneath a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co. tressel near Gardner Park.

Washington C. H. firemen, who rescued the youth at 2:45 p.m. Monday, explained Tony Anders, 9, of 426 Comfort Lane, and Glidden Sparkman, 10, of 559 Frank St., were playing on the tressel and climbed down into the water of Paint Creek. The Anders youth slipped into the creek but was able to climb to higher ground under the tressel. Finding himself unable to make it to the top because of the ice, the Sparkman youth ran to the Thompson Transfer Co., 153 S. Hinde St., for assistance and told David Thompson to notify the fire department.

Washington C. H. firemen Ronnie Cox and Daniel Fowler waded into Paint Creek and carried the Anders youth to dry land.

Both boys were taken to the fire department to warm up and then returned to their homes.

Prayer breakfast draws 31 persons

The inclimate weather slashed the teen prayer breakfast attendance to 31 Tuesday morning.

"Treasure Hunting" was the topic used by the Rev. Charles J. Richmond at the meditation time. Carol Bryant, a junior at Washington Senior High School, led the group in several songs accompanied by the piano by Linda Hollingsworth, a senior at Washington Senior High School. Jane Henry, a sophomore at Washington Senior High School, offered prayer.

Following the breakfast, Miss Susie Bailey, a teacher at Washington Senior High School, spoke to the group on "forgiveness." She encouraged the teens to "not only forgive, but forget because it is Christ like." She then dismissed the group with prayer.

The next teen prayer breakfast will be Tuesday, Jan. 27 at 6:45 a.m. All teens, grades nine through 12, are welcome.

Burglary, theft reports checked

A burglary and the larceny of a car battery and a bicycle were reported by Washington C. H. police today. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported several items stolen from a barn in Jeffersonville.

The home of Dorothy J. Hatfield located at 504 Broadway, was entered sometime between 1 p.m. and 6 p.m. Monday by someone who slit the plastic kitchen window with a sharp instrument. A 12-inch black and white television valued at $75 was stolen.

The battery was stolen from a car belonging to Delbert G. West, 637 Belle Aire Place, between 1 p.m. and 6 p.m. while the auto was parked in the Kroger store parking lot on Clinton Avenus. Police estimated the loss at $41.25.

A bicycle owned by Jay A. Steele, was stolen from the front of his 442 East St. residence between 5 p.m. Sunday and midnight, police reported today. The bike is valued at $110.

Sometime after Nov. 27 a 30-foot wooden extension ladder valued at $140, a space heater valued at $289 and a flat wagon and a 12-14 foot long wagon valued at $300 were stolen from a barn belonging to Bob Chaney, 1478 Bloomingburg-New Holland Road, located in Jeffersonville. Fayette County Sheriff's deputies are investigating the grand theft.

Vote support for free stamps

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Council of Churches' commission on poverty and economic justice voted to support elimination of the purchase price for federal food stamps.

The commission also supports ending the current itemized deduction system used to figure net income and replacing it with a standard deduction, maintaining present procedures which base eligibility on current income and opposes changes that would restrict the food stamp program to families below the official poverty level.

'Black fever' epidemic flops

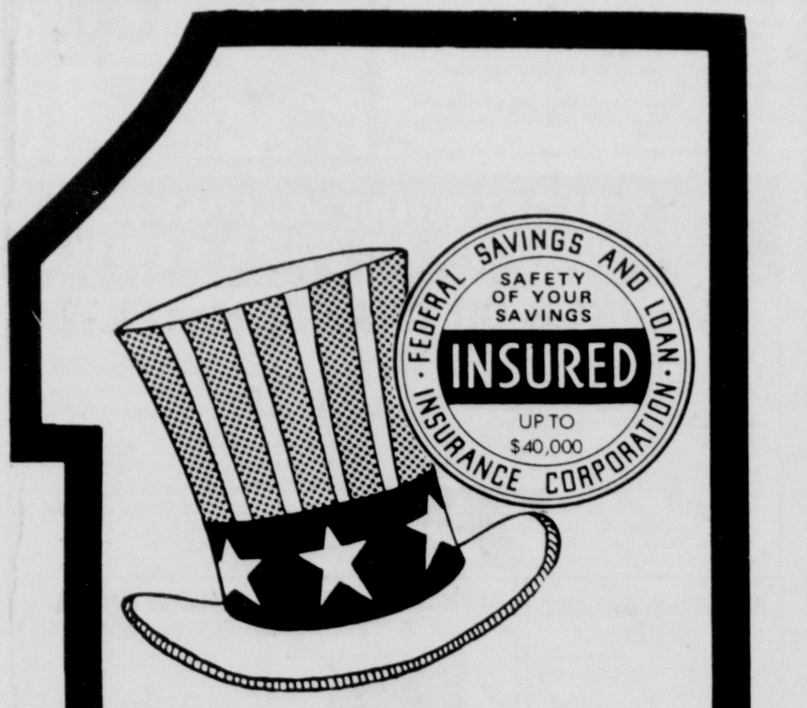

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — An epidemic of "black fever" threatened for Monday by Dayton city employes who wanted to take the day off in honor of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King fizzled out, according to city officials.

Personnel division investigator Steve Morrissey said the number of workers absent was just slightly above normal for a Monday.

About 300 city employes signed petitions last week asking that they be allowed to take the new state holiday as a day off. City officials refused, contending that labor contracts could not be amended now to add the holiday.

Blue Lions meet Chillicothe

Panthers travel to Plains for important league game

The Miami Trace Panthers will visit the gym that was the site of last week's major SCOL upset when they take on Madison Plains tonight in an important league contest.

Always tough on their home court, the Golden Eagles handed Circleville its first league and regular season loss in two years last Tuesday night tightening the SCOL cage race. Now, Miami Trace must be certain the Eagles don't continue in their role as league spoilers.

A Panther win would tighten the race for the league cage crows even more as Circleville takes the night off. The only other SCOL teams taking the court tonight are Washington C. H. and Hillsboro and both teams will face non-league opponents.

The Blue Lions will travel to Chillicothe to take on a tough Cavalier five which is presently sporting a 7-5 record while Hillsboro takes on Lynchburg-Clay in a game that was postponed last week because of a power shortage.

It was back to the drawing board for coach Steve Stewart of Madison Plains at the beginning of the season after he lost all five starters from last season's 14-5 squad. Considering he had only one letterman, Rick Timmons, returning this season, Stewart has done a fine job restructuring the team.

Joining Timmons at the starting position this year, have been 6-3 forward Dave Wilson (14.6 average), forward Doug Sifirt, 6-5 center Gary Self and guard Dave Saunders. Although Stewart has little bench strength, the five starters are all capable of hitting in double figures.

Timmons is second to Wilson on the team in scoring with a 13.6 average and the other three starters are averaging close to 10-points a game.

The Golden Eagles played Miami Trace close until the fourth quarter in the two teams' first meeting at the Panther gym last month. The final period surge gave the Panthers a convincing 71-59 margin of victory.

Things should be tougher at Madison Plains which is reportedly not an easy place to beat the Golden Eagles, but the Panthers have been playing their best ball of the season. They have won three straight league games including victories over Wilmington and Greenfield since the Christmas break. Those wins have put the Panthers into the thick of the SCOL race and victory tonight would move them within a half game of Circleville.

Probable starters for the Panthers are Allan Conner and Dan Gifford at the forward spots, Rod Garringer and Art Schlichter at guards and either John Schlichter or sophomore Bill Hanners at the pivot.

Chillicothe seems to have a tradition of starting slow and finishing strong. The Cavaliers under seventh-year coach Tom Tuppett have won three straight sectional titles after rather unimpressive starts. This year may be no different.

The Cavaliers won only one of their first three games but have come on strong and taken six out of their last eight contest. So, the Blue Lions will be catching the Cavaliers on the upswing.

Tuppett has four main starters, who are led by 6-4 senior Fred Fairrow. The Cavalier center-forward leads the team with a 14-point average and he has been pulling close to ten rebounds a game.

Two 6-2 seniors join Fairrow in the starting five. They are Mike Cochenour (10.7 average) and Harry Brown (8.7 average). Mike Fairrow, a 5-10 junior, will be one of the guards.

Tuppett gets his fifth man from either Brad Beverly (6.5, sr.) Mike Buchanon (6-0, sr.) depending on the competitions strength.

In the case of the Blue Lions, who start a tall frontline composed of Duog Phillips, Ken Upthegrove and John Denen, Tuppett will probably go with the taller Beverly.

OSU outlasts Illinois

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "It was a triumph for pride and patience," said Fred Taylor.

The Ohio State basketball coach leaned back in his chair in his hideaway office in St. John Arena Monday night, moments after the Buckeyes outlasted Illinois 64-63.

Mark Bayless' basket with nine seconds left provided the margin snapping a seven-game losing spell. It was the Buckeyes' first victory in six Big Ten games.

"We sure hadn't filled up the place with victories. That's five games by a swing of 11 points," said Taylor, whose team is 5-9 overall.

"Really," said the man who has coached seven Big Ten champions in his 18 seasons, "we've only played one truly poor game. That was against Tulane.

"But I never felt like at anytime our kids weren't making an effort."

Bayless led the charge with 14 points, two more than Mike Daugherty, Fred Poole and Larry Bolden. "That's the best game Mark has played all-year by far," said his coach.

Lou Henson was upset after his Illinois team dropped to 2-4 in the conference and 9-6 for all games.

"We made a lot of foolish passes. It was no better than an average game for us," said the Illini's first-year mentor.

"I won't say who it will be, but there will be a lineup change before the next game. I didn't like what I saw out there," said Henson.

The Illini muffed two opportunities in the closing seconds. Otho Tucker missed a field try try. Audie Matthews, whose 13 points led the visitors, tried an errant rebound tip.

"We wanted someone to get a good shot," Henson explained his final-second strategy.

Indiana retains grip on cage poll lead

By The Associated Press

Indiana, with a pair of convincing Big Ten victories, maintained its stranglehold on the No. 1 spot and up-and-down again Wake Forest went down again in The Associated Press major college basketball poll released today.

Indiana whipped Michigan State 69-57 and then clobbered Illinois 83-55 last week, and a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters responded by naming the Hoosiers first on 62 of 63 ballots cast. Indiana, now 14-0 and only one of three undefeated teams in the Top 20, polled 1,258 points.

The next three spots remained the same. Maryland, 13-1, was second with 1,033 points, Marquette, 11-1, third with 952 and Nevada-Las Vegas, 18-0, fourth with 816.

Wake Forest, which held the No. 5 spot last week, shot into the poll three weeks ago with stunning upsets of North Carolina and North Carolina State in the Big Four Classic, only to lose stature the following week with a loss to Virginia. And last week, the 11-3 Deacons lost a pair to Clemson and North Carolina, dropping all the way to 14th.

Moving into the fifth spot was North Carolina, seventh last week. The 12-2 Tar Heels got 592 points after Atlantic Coast Conference victories over Wake Forest 99-74 and Duke 89-87.

UCLA, 13-2, moved from eighth to sixth with victories over Stanford and California. The defending national champion Bruins, after being surprised by Oregon State the week before, regained enough stature to poll 576 points.

Rutgers, the third undefeated team at 13-0, climbed from 10th to seventh by beating Columbia 94-65 and Bucknell 105-82. The Scarlet Knights got 541 points from pollsters.

Eighth was Washington, which slipped from sixth last week after a 72-70 loss to Oregon State. The Huskies, 14-1, got 516 points. They were followed by St. John's, 13-1, with 505 points, and Tennessee, 12-2, with 302. St. John's had been 12th the week before but beat Hawaii 74-71 in overtime and Villanova 57-53. Tennessee slipped one notch from ninth after a tough SEC loss to Vanderbilt.

North Carolina State, 12-2, which dipped to 13th last week, lost 87-69 to Maryland last week but the Wolfpack redeemed itself with a thrilling 68-67 upset of rival North Carolina Sunday to move up to 11th with 292 points.

Al Michaels' ghost used to haunt Cincy announcer

By PHIL LEWIS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Marty Brennaman, who will begin his third year as the voice of the Cincinnati Reds this spring, said his main worry after joining the baseball team was "the ghost of Al Michaels."

The 34-year-old native Virginian, speaking before a record crowd at the Fayette County Cattlefeeders Association banquet at the Mahan Building Monday night, said Michaels, who was his predecessor on the Reds network, was a tough act to follow.

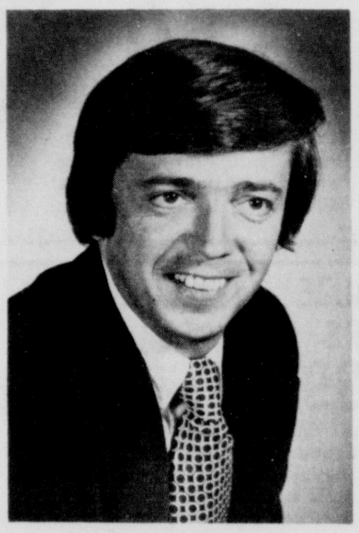

Michaels took the broadcasting job with the San Francisco Giants opening up the announcing position with the Reds. According to Brennaman, many people still very much remembered and liked Michaels after he left for the Bay Area and this produced a lack of self-confidence in the speaker.

During spring training in Brennaman's rookie year behind the mike with Joe Nuxhall, the Reds were playing the Pirates at Al Lopez Field in Bradenton, Fla.

Nervously, Brennaman opened the broadcast with "Good afternoon, this is Marty Brennaman along with Joe Nuxhall bringing you the game between the Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates at Al Michaels Field . . ."

Obviously Brennaman was embarassed , but Nuxhall appreciated the young sportscaster's slip of the tongue saying that the baseball season hadn't even started and he already had new material for the banquet season.

Relating such humorous baseball stories—similar to the preceeding one which was told to the 383 persons attending last night's banquet—is how sportscasters such as Brennaman spend their time in the winter months.

MARTY BRENNAMAN

One ball player, who gives Brennaman usuable material on the banquet circuit, is Pete Rose.

During the World Series, Rose was on second base and noticed umpire Larry Barnett standing close by. Barnett was involved in the controversial play at the plate involving Ed Armbrister which led to threats on the umpire's life. Rose cautioned him to get away from second saying the guy in the stands with the rifle might be a bad shot. "That's Pete Rose," Brennaman said.

Between the interesting stories, Brennaman tossed in some of his opinions and observations on baseball before opening it up to questions from the crowd.

Although professional baseball was billed as the sport of the 1970's five years ago, Brennaman feels baseball is on its way back to the top.

Brennaman thinks veterans Bob Bailey and Mike Lum, who were picked up by the Reds in trades this winter, will help improve the ball club. He also predicts the Reds to win the National League West again this year, but he balks at going in farther with his forecasts saying a short playoff series is not always won by the best team.

Emerson Marting, a well-known Fayette County farmer and auctioneer, served as toastmaster and entertained the capacity crowd with some of his homespun humor.

During the meeting conducted by association president Dave Luckhart, Fayette County Agricultural Extension agent John Gruber announced plans for the annual Cattlefeeders Association tour to be held Feb. 25-26.

Norminating committee chairman Norman Schiering presented the new slate of officers for 1976. Tom Lindsey was elected president; Wayne King, vice president, and John Fetters, secretary-treasurer.

Township directors elected to two-year terms were Marion Waddle, Concord; Russell Lanman, Green; Charles Hiser, Jasper; Karl Krieger, Jefferson; Max Schlichter, Madison; Roger Rapp, Marion; Arthur Schaefer, Paint; Loren Johnson, Perry; Langdon (Corky) McCoy, Union, and Robert Rife, Wayne.

Edgar McFadden of Paint Township was appointed to a one-year term on the board of directors to fill the unexpired term of the late Milbourne W. Barney.

Auxiliary activities reported

Hospital board reviews annual statistical data

The Fayette County Memorial Hospital board of trustees met Monday to receive the annual statistical report on the hospital operation and the activities of the hospital auxiliary.

The board also appropriated funds for the purchase of equipment, considered renewal of medial staff privileges, and authorized the hospital administrator to advertise for bids for kitchen and laundry equipment.

In general, the statistical report presented by hospital administrator Robert L. Kunz showed that the number of patients admitted during 1975 dropped from 1974, but the related services (x-rays, laboratory test, and others) workload greatly increased. This was due largely to an increase in the number of emergency room treatments.

The hospital auxiliary reported that it had 116 active staff volunteers, three life members, and 27 associate members. They contributed 12,343 working hours to the hospital operation during the year. In addition, the auxiliary purchased equipment for the hospital valued at $4,151.

Kunz said the areas in which the volunteer work is concentrated were the information booth, the gift shop, providing television service, the emergency room, x-ray department, maternity ward, laboratory and business office. He and members of the board of trustees commended the auxiliary on their outstanding contribution to the hospital.

Bids will be advertised for replacement of 75 per cent of all kitchen equipment in the hospital. Kunz noted that the equipment is more than 26 years old and is badly in need of replacement. The cost is estimated at $17,000.

He will also advertise for bids on three washing machine units. The estimated cost for these is also $17,000, and the new units would replace one large and one small machine currently being used.

All applications for renewal of staff privileges were approved by the board. Kunz said there are a total of 49 staff members.

The board also approved equipment purchases in the amount of $4,408. These include purchase of two medical carts at a cost of $8,500 each, and expenses for repairs on the boilers which total $1,600.

The statistical report for 1975 was also compared to 1974 records. In the recap given below, each figure is followed by the percentage increase or decline over the 1974 figure in the same category.

Kunz said there was a total of 3,950 admissions which was seven per cent lower than in 1974. This resulted in 24,794 in-patient days (-2 per cent). The average number of persons in the hospital each day was 66.92 (-2 per cent).

The percentage of occupancy for the entire hospital was 79.38 (no change), and the percentage of occupancy in the medical and surgical division was 88.62 (-3 per cent). The average length of stay for each patient was 5.95 days. This is one per cent lower than 1974, and two days under the national average, Kunz said. The average length of stay in the medical and surgical division was 7.01 days, also one per cent lower than in 1974.

There were 13,695 x-rays taken (+ 23 per cent); 73,647 laboratory test performed (+23 per cent), and 16,034 emergency patients (+11 per cent).

The hospital administered 3,905 physical therapies (+21 per cent), and 7,911 inhalation treatments (+12 per cent).

There were 818 major surgeries (-10 per cent) and 890 minor surgeries (-7 per cent).

Actual revenue per patient-day in 1975 was $105.41. The budget called for $95.65, and the national average is $122.46.

The actual expense per patient-day was $103.91 while the budget estimated $95.24. The national average is $120.36.

The total expense per admission was $652.22. The budget projected $656.72, and the national average is $874.52, Kunz noted.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Two new programs are premiering on TV tonight. One is "Popi," a CBS situation comedy. The other is public television's "The Adams Chronicles," a red-ink series about a blue-blood family.

The latter show, which ran $1.5 million over its original $3.9-million production budget because of delays blamed on a writers' strike and script revisions, is quite an ambitious project.

It dramatizes the lives of four generations of the historic Adams family of Massachusetts and the family's contributions to the nation, from pre-Revolutionary War times to around 1900.

After an advance peep at tonight's show, the first of 13 produced by WNET here, I'd say we may be facing the dawn of a new era in American public TV — namely, a first-rate dramatic effort not made by the BBC.

The show studies the life of young John Adams, his courtship of Abigail Smith and their marriage in 1764, and the start of his rise to prominence in American history from humble origins as a struggling lawyer and farmer in Braintree, Mass.

George Grizzard seems a mite old to be playing young Adams — the actor was 47 when the show was taped — but he still turns in a fine performance, as does Katherine Walker, cast as his strong-minded wife.

In a history show of this kind, one might expect wooden, stilted writing. But such is not the case here; the dialogue is believable, even sprightly at times and the show is good drama, not bad pageantry.

The premise of CBS' "Popi" series isn't too novel. It's about a Puerto Rican widower with two young sons. It replaces "Joe and Sons," which concerned an Italian-American widower with two young sons.

Tonight's opener has a hohum yarn about a runaway Great Dane and the boys' adoption of same. Still, the show has a nice, natural feel to it and doesn't depend on mugging or shouting for its laughs.

The acting of Hector Elizondo, cast as Popi, is particularly good. And wonder of wonders, the show doesn't stick to the usual apartment setting of sitcoms. It even goes on location in New York for some scenes.

With better scripts, "Popi" could prove the surprise hit of the mid-season.

DENVER (AP) — Novice G. Fawcett, president emeritus of Ohio State University, has been appointed to the Education Commission of the States.

Fawcett was appointed by Gov. James A. Rhodes and joins the governor and five other Ohio residents on the commission.

Each member state is represented on the commission by seven commissioners, including the governor, two state legislators and four others chosen by the governor.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newsfeatures

Since the United Nations General Assembly proclaimed 1975 as "International Women's Year," many countries have issued (or have announced the forthcoming issuance of) postage stamps honoring the occasion. The "year" will be observed with the theme "Equality, Development and Peace."

The U.N. Postal Administration's commemorative will be issued May 9 with first-day ceremonies at the U.N. in New York. The new stamp will have one design in denominations of 10 cents (blue, red, orange, gold and silver) and 18 cents (green, red, orange, gold and silver). It shows a woman and a man side by side within a circle enclosed with a wreath from the U.N. emblem.

First-day cover requests, in money orders, should be sent to P.O. Box 1586, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017, prior to May 9. Mint orders should be sent to P.O. Box 5900, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017.

The U.S. will issue its commemorative stamp for International Women's Year in late summer or fall, according to the U.S. Postal Service. The U.N. proclamation for the event was endorsed in the United States by a presidential proclamation in January 1974.

The design of the stamp as well as the date and place of issuance will be reported in this column as soon as the details become available.

Israel will issue two new stamps dedicated to those soldiers who lost their lives in defense of their country.

The first stamp is a Memorial Day issue and is the most recent in the series of annual commemorative stamps honoring all who died for Israel. It depicts an eternal flame above a soldier's grave, encircled by a wreath of broken weapons.

The second stamp is entitled "In Memory of Soldiers Missing in Action." It will feature a memorial tablet with a tribute inscription and the Star of David. According to the Hebrew calendar, the 7th of Adar is the day on which Moses died and has been set aside as the national Day of Remembrance for those soldiers whose burial place is unknown. This new Israeli stamp will be issued on that day.

The new stamps will soon be available at your local stamp dealer.

The 125th anniversary of the first use of postage stamps in the American Indian Nations will be the central theme of the annual OKPEX exhibition held by the Oklahoma City Stamp Club (May 31 and June 1).

The Choctaw Nation, one of the largest of the Indian Nations, holds the distinction of being the first to use U.S. postage stamps. The first actual use was at Doaksville, Choctaw Nation, in June 1850. Later the Indian Nations were grouped together to form the Indian Territory. In 1907 the Indian Territory was combined with the Oklahoma Territory to form the State of Oklahoma.

More information regarding OKPEX, as well as the engraved souvenir card and other philatelic material to be issued, can be obtained by writing: Earle Pyler, OKPEX 75 chairman, P. O. Box 1121, Edmond, Okla. 73034.

OSMOND FANS MAKE PILGRIMAGE

LONDON (AP) — One hundred and forty members of the Osmond Brothers Fan Club here, the majority of them 17-year-old girls, have chartered a plane, paying upward of $500 each, to make a two-week pilgrimage to five U.S. cities.

The cities are associated with the lives and careers of the Osmonds. The group will attend four Osmond Brothers concerts to be given in two days in Allentown, Pa.

They will spend five days in Los Angeles, then go to Las Vegas for three days, visiting hotels where the Osmonds have sung. They will visit Salt Lake City, the Osmonds' home area, spending time at the Mormon Tabernacle, Mormon Temple, Brigham Young Monument, etc. The trip will end in New York.

Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid or bids for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest from that hereinbefore specified, provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-eighth of one per centum or a multiple thereof.

Unless paid from other sources, both principal and interest are payable from limited taxes at The Fayette County Bank, Jeffersonville, Ohio, without deduction for exchange, collection or service charges.

These general obligation special assessment bonds of the village are issued for the purpose of paying part of the cost of improving certain property in the Village of Jeffersonville, Ohio, as described in Resolution No. 123, passed by council of the village on June 12, 1967, and in Resolution No. 137, passed by the council of the village on June 6, 1968, by constructing therein water main extensions, under authority of the general laws of the State of Ohio, particularly the Uniform Bond Law of the Ohio Revised Code, and pursuant to Ordinance No. 76-1, duly passed by council of said village on January 8, 1976.

These bonds will be sold to the bidder offering to purchase the bonds at the lowest net interest cost to the village, such cost to be determined by deducting the total amount of any premium offered from the aggregate amount of interest payable upon all the bonds from February 1, 1976, until their respective dates of maturity. No bid for less than par plus accrued interest will be entertained and the right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

All bids must be accompanied by cash, a bank cashier's or official's check, a certified check or a combination thereof, not drawn upon or certified by a bidder, payable to the village, equal to at least one per centum of the amount of the bonds being sold, upon condition that if the bid is accepted, the fiscal officer will deliver the bonds to the successful bidder within thirty (30) day of the date of the award, with the usual delivery papers, no-arbitrage certificate, and a complete, certified transcript of the proceedings, showing the bonds to have been legally issued, and the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds as may be issued as above set forth, said cash or check or combination thereof to be retained by the village as full and complete liquidated damages and cashed only if said condition is not fulfilled; or said cash or check or combination thereof to be returned promptly at the request of the successful bidder if the bonds and transcript are not delivered within the time specified herein.

No conditional bids will be received.

The approving opinion of Peck, Shaffer & Williams, bond attorneys of Cincinnati, Ohio will be furnished to the successful bidder at his expense as a term of sale. The village will pay for the printing of the bonds, which shall have printed thereon the text of the legal approving opinion of the issue.

It is anticipated that CUSIP identification numbers will be printed on these bonds, but neither the failure to print such number on any bond nor any error with respect thereto shall constitute cause for a failure or refusal by the purchaser thereof to accept delivery of and pay for said bonds in accordance with the terms of the purchase contract. All expenses in relation to the printing of CUSIP numbers on said bonds shall be paid for by said village, provided, however, that the CUSIP Service Bureau charge for the assignment of said numbers shall be the responsibility of and shall be paid for by the purchaser.

The bonds will be delivered by the village for payment without charge within the State of Ohio to the purchaser or to a bank designated by the purchaser. The expense of such delivery will not be considered in determining the highest bidder. Delivery at any other place shall be at the request of the purchaser and at his expense.

Payment for the bonds shall be made to the village in immediate or Federal Reserve funds on the date of delivery.

The bids will be considered and acted upon at a meeting of council of said village to be held February 5, 1976, or within three (3) days thereafter.

Bids should be sealed and endorsed: "BID FOR SPECIAL ASSESSMENT BONDS".

Opening lead — ten of hearts.

Let's assume you're in six notrump and West leads a heart. There seems to be very little play to the hand, so you win the heart with the ace and play a low spade to the jack.

East takes the king and returns a heart to the queen. When you play a low spade to the queen, West shows out and you discover that the hand is not quite as simple as you thought.

You have eleven sure tricks and your best chance for a twelfth is to guess the two-way diamond finesse. If you're a good guesser you make the slam, but you shouldn't really find yourself in this pickle. With proper play at the start, you can guarantee the slam against any and all distributions.

The correct approach is to lead a low spade to the ace at trick two, deliberately shunning the finesse. You then lead a low spade from dummy and, regardless of how the spades are divided, you now have twelve sure tricks.

Let's look at the actual case first. East can't afford to rise with the king, as that would hand you four spade tricks and the slam, so you win the spade with the queen.

Even though West shows out you are still in fine shape. All you have to do to insure the slam is play a low diamond to the ace and finesse the jack on the way back. Win or lose, you have twelve ironclad tricks.

Had West held the K-10-8-6 of spades, your task would have been that much simpler. East would fail on the second spade lead and you would easily score four spade tricks. The question of a diamond finesse would never enter the picture at all. You would have tricks to burn.

Fibroid Tumors: Non-Cancerous

I have fibroid tumors of my uterus. I am 42 and in good health. Even though surgery has not been considered in my case, I'm taking a long-range view and wonder if an operation is inevitable. If so, does the entire uterus have to be removed?

Mrs. T.A., Neb.

Dear Mrs. A.:

I admire your stoic attitude and am particularly impressed by your mature approach to the problem.

You seem to be free of the fears that beset many patients with fibroids.

Fibroids are non-cancerous (benign) tumors of the womb. They occur in about 25 per cent of women. They vary in size and number. They also vary in the location in the uterus. Some lie on the inner surface; others, on the outer coat of the uterus. Most of them lie deep within the muscle of the uterus itself.

By repeated examination, doctors can note the change in size of fibroids. These changes, in addition to symptoms of pain and prolonged menstrual periods, determine the treatment in each case.

The extent of surgery is decided on at the time of operation. Sometimes, the entire uterus and the ovaries are removed.

It is possible, in some instances, to "shell out" a fibroid from the uterus, leaving the uterus itself intact. This is known as "myomectomy" in contradistinction to "hysterectomy," or the total removal of the uterus.

Surgery is not the inevitable answer to all fibroids. In many instances, the fibroids spontaneously grow smaller and, in the absence of any symptoms, no surgery is performed.

Have doctors abandoned the old grandmothers' method of stopping nail biting? By that I mean, applying bitter aloes to the fingernails.

Mrs. C.J., Wis.

Dear Mrs. J.:

Grandmothers' remedies may have served the superficial purpose, but they certainly did not get to the root of the problem. For nail biting in children, or adults, is evidence of some inner tension and nervousness.

Unless the cause is learned and eliminated, even if the nail biting does stop, other symptoms of emotional tension will arise.

The application of unpleasant oils is a form of punishment. Punishment is contrary to the present concepts of treating nail biting.

Some members favor income tax

Possible solutions to city's fund crisis eyed by Council

By GEORGE MALEK

Two firm conclusions were reached by members of the Washington C.H. City Council Monday afternoon—the city has a financial problem, and the solution will be unpopular. However, just which unpopular remedy will be adopted was pondered.

From the depths of despair over the 1976 budget came rumblings of once again imposing an income tax on the residents of Washington C.H.

Council met in special session in the city offices. The meeting was opened at 4 p.m., and Council members immediately retired to another office for private discussions on the city's sick leave policy and a recommendation to the Carnegie Public Library board of trustees.

They returned at 4:15 p.m. to discuss the number one order of business, the 1976 budget deficit.

City Manager George H. Shapter opened the meeting by noting that he had investigated two possible sources of revenue which Council might wish to pursue. He said a court decision might allow the city to transfer some $50,000 from the storm sewer improvement fund to the general fund, and the Fayette County Budget Commission might free some property tax money which it had previously assigned to debt service only.

The budget commission had mandated that all $67,590 of the city's 1.7 mills in inside millage be designated to payment of debt service, or payment of city bonds.

Since the time of the budget commission's ruling, Shapter has shown that not all of that amount is really necessary to meet 1976 bond obligations. Although Fayette County prosecuting attorney James A. Kiger has found no procedure by which Council can request a meeting of the budget commission to reconsider its mandate on the inside millage, Shapter is continuing to pursue the matter. He estimates that as much as $50,000 might be available at the end of 1976 in the debt service account. He noted, however, that such action would leave a greater debt for 1977, and additional monies would be needed to meet the city's obligation at that time.

Council member Ralph L. Cook noted that the monies in the storm sewer fund had been voted upon to be used specifically for storm sewer improvements, and that Council had a moral obligation to leave that money in the storm sewer fund. He noted that several storm sewer projects have been halted in mid-stream while the sanitary sewer program is being undertaken, and they should be resumed at a later date. After a short discussion, Council agreed that it should not seek court action to transfer these funds.

Council member Eddie Fisher stated that it was time Council stopped "Robbing Peter to pay Paul." He noted that if bond monies or storm funds were transferred, the problem of funds would be compounded in 1977 when money would be needed in those funds as well as the general fund. This has happened several times in the past and has resulted in the grim situation now at hand, and it is time Council dealt with the problem headon, Fisher concluded.

Council member Billie Wilson added that while the city is current in its obligations to bonded indebtedness, it has several notes on which no principal has been paid for the past two years. These notes will have to be paid in the near future, and Council must prepare for that time, Wilson said.

The city manager stressed that Council did not have the authority to simply transfer the storm monies even if it had desired to do so. It would require approval from Common Pleas Court, he said.

The discussion became sluggish as all Council members reiterated, "We have a very serious problem," but no one offered any concrete means of solving it.

Since Council had not been receptive to the expense reduction plan presented by the finance committee at the last Council meeting, Mrs. Bertha McCullough, committee chairman, singled out individual members of the legislative body to present their recommendations.

Cook said he would vote for no personnel cuts in the various service departments. He said the voter's true sentiments on an income tax have never really been known, and he felt an income tax was the solution. The contact he has had with city residents this month indicates they prefer an income tax to a reduction of services, he said.

Cook suggested hiring a few people for a couple weeks to make a house-by-house telephone poll of city residents asking only "Would you prefer a reduction in services or a one-half per cent income tax?" He was confident that a tax would be favored, he stated. Cook said the previous election (November's general election) did not give an accurate assessment of the voters' feelings.

One-third of the voters wanted property taxes, not an income tax. One-third wanted an income tax, but not property taxes, and the other one-third were opposed to any tax, Cook said. As a result, all taxes were defeated. This does not mean the citizens are opposed to an income tax, he concluded.

Council member John Morris echoed similar sentiments. He said the voters had made it clear that they did not want a one per cent tax, but felt a half per cent tax would produce $130,000 to $150,000, and be sufficient to get the city through the year. Council has never really "sold" an income tax to the public, he added.

Both Morris and Cook said the budget document prepared by the city manager should make it abundantly clear that more revenue was needed while showing where the need exists. They said it would be the first time voters would see where their money was going.

Mrs. McCullough and Fisher supported their original contention that an income tax was not the answer. They felt the voters had made it clear they wanted no income tax. The only method of balancing the budget is to cut expenses, they said. They added that it would be impossible to cut $130,000 from the general fund expenses with making personnel reductions.

No one wants to cut personnel, Fisher added, but "we are responsible, and someone has to make a responsible decision."

Mrs. McCullough suggested saving $27,000 by turning off all street lights, $3,000 to $5,000 by eliminating the city recreation program, and $11,300 by contributing no funds to the cemetery

Demos deride Ford program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford will send Congress a $394.2-billion budget tomorrow, but congressional Democrats are already attacking it and marshaling their strength for imminent veto battles to test their strength in the election-year spending dispute.

The outlines of the budget Ford will submit Wednesday were made clear in his State of the Union message Monday night as he urged spending restraint and renewed his proposal for a balancing income tax cut.

In his address, Ford said the nation's condition was better now than it was a year ago but that it's still not good enough. He proposed cutting income taxes by $10 billion, raising Social Security levies $4.2 billion, adding catastrophic health insurance for Medicare recipients, encouraging business expansion by offering new tax incentives and providing housing assistance for 500,000 families.

A White House data sheet announcing the budget total for the 12 months beginning next Oct. 1 says the budget will be $43 billion in deficit. The deficit for the current fiscal year is estimated at $76 billion.

Democrats responded with a chorus of charges that Ford was putting what they called an arbitrary spending ceiling ahead of the needs of the unemployed in an economy just beginning to recover.

The Democrats also signaled that the forthcoming disputes over vetoes and the federal budget will bear the seeds for future political issues in this election year.

Ford raised some political themes in his address, possibly trying out "new realism" as a campaign slogan and obliquely criticizing his Republican opponent, Ronald Reagan.

The first veto dispute comes next Tuesday when the House will vote whether to override Ford's veto of a $45-billion labor-health, education and welfare appropriation heavy with funding for social programs. They would need a two-thirds vote to override, and the outcome is in doubt.

House Majority Leader Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., said Ford's economic plan would throw an additional 200,000 persons out of work. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., said Ford failed "to come to grips with the problem of unemployment and the sluggishness of our economy."

In another major squabble between the Democratic Congress and Ford, the House votes next Tuesday on a $112-billion defense appropriation that contains a ban on using U.S. funds to help any faction in the Angolan civil war. The Senate already has approved the ban.

"We must not face a future in which we can no longer help our friends, such as in Angola, even in limited and carefully controlled ways ...," Ford told Congress in the nationally broadcast address.

He said such actions as the Senate's vote for the Angola-funds ban were "very shortsighted."

House Speaker Carl Albert has said he cannot conceive of Congress approving Angola aid on the basis of arguments put forward by the administration. Albert called Ford's spending restraint-tax reduction plan unworkable.

Ford said his tax-cut and spending-ceiling proposal, essentially the one Congress refused to vote last year, would provide a $10-billion tax reduction in addition to the compromise cut in effect until midyear. He said it would mean $227 a year in additional take-home pay for a family of four with $15,000 income.

But Ford also proposed an increase in another tax, the payroll levy paid by employers and employes to support the Social Security system that has been running a deficit and dipping into its reserves.

Effective in 1977, the increase would raise the maximum tax paid by an employe to $1,014, up from $855 this year. All but $49 of this proposed hike might occur anyway under automatic provisions of present law.

Ford also proposed a revision in the Medicare health program for the aged. It would cost the over-65 patients more for shortterm illnesses, but set a $740-a-year ceiling on what they could be charged for covered services. The limit, he said, would protect them against catastrophic costs for serious illness.

While Ford's message forshadowed clashes on a number of issues with the Democratic majority in Congress, it also staked out some positions that would set him apart from Reagan.

While Reagan has proposed large-scale transfers of federal programs to the states, Ford came out for tightening rather than abolishing federal welfare programs.

Ford also called for what he described as "long overdue reform of the scandal-ridden food stamp program." A major change would limit benefits to those whose net income is below the poverty level, currently $5,050 for a family of four.

He said temporary extensions of special unemployment benefits will continue in 1976 and that he will ask for continued job training funds in 1977.

He renewed his call for a five-year extension of federal revenue-sharing with states and localities.

Ford advanced two plans he said would stimulate needed business investment.

One would provide fast depreciation of productive facilities, aimed especially at areas of high unemployment — which under present circumstances would cover much of the country.

Another would be designed to encourage persons of moderate income to buy stock in U.S. firms. The purchase price for such long-term investments could be deducted for tax purposes, with the proceeds to be subject to tax only if cashed in later.

To make it easier for heirs to retain family farms and businesses, Ford said the estate tax on such inheritances should be postponed and stretched out.

He also said he will propose programs to help lower-income persons rent and buy homes through subsidies affecting 500,000 dwelling units, at the same time helping the lagging housing industry.

Saying the country needs a strong defense posture to strengthen its hand in international negotiations and keep its alliances vigorous, he said he will submit an increased defense budget.

Warning against "the crippling of our foreign intelligence services," Ford said, "I will take actions to reform and strengthen our intelligence community. I ask for your positive cooperation. It is time to go beyond sensationalism. . ."

Snow, ice storms roam over state

By The Associated Press

The Coast Guard has issued a warning about Lake Erie ice conditions after a helicopter had to be called from Detroit to help rescue 10 persons from an ice floe that started drifting away from shore near Port Clinton.

Freezing rain and snow began an advance across the state from the west Monday, trailing icy roads, especially in the state's northernwestern and southwestern corners.

Coast Guardsmen said a 14-foot aluminum ice skiff from Marblehead helped the helicopter bring the fishermen safely ashore Monday at Catawba. Ninth District Coast Guard headquarters in Cleveland said the ice fishermen were trapped when a sudden wind shift brought gale force breezes out of the southwest, and the ice started to break up and move offshore.

Residents along the lake were warned to keep off the ice and to warn children of the danger of walking out from shore.

Fifteen-year-old Penny Mossbarger of Greenfield was killed Monday, when the car she was riding in skidded out of control near Washington Court House. The Fayette County sheriff's office said she was tossed from the car and then crushed by it.

The skid could have been caused by ice, authorities said.

Police in Franklin, near Cincinnati, said 13 cars were involved in one accident at Interstate 75 at Ohio 73. Six cars skidded off a ramp and the others ploughed into them, authorities said.

A police cruiser and a fire department ambulance were demolished in the wreck.

Cincinnati police logged reports of 404 accidents on rainslick streets between 3 p.m. and 8 p.m.

Latonia Race Track called off racing. Its managers said track conditions were acceptable but roads were so bad they expected no fans.

Kentucky State Police said roads in the northern part of their state were particularly hard hit by the freezing rain.

St. Elizabeth Hospital in Covington, Ky., said 30 nurses failed to arrive for work because of hazardous driving.

Snowfall amounts across Ohio ranged from two to four inches in northeastern counties to one to two inches elsewhere.

Numerous school closings were reported around Cincinnati after two inches of snow were dumped in the area.

One traffic death and at least two injuries were reported on icy streets in the city Monday.

Travelers advisories that were in effect for Ohio Monday were cancelled late in the day.

Winter began to relax its grip on Ohio early today and brisk southerly breezes pushed temperatures 20s and 30s over most of the state.

Snow closes MT schools

Snow fell throughout the night, commencing shortly after 10 p.m. and attaining a build up of about two inches by early morning. The snow-covered roads slowed traffic and forced cancellation of classes in the Miami Trace School District for the fourth time this winter.

Maximum temperatures during the night did not top the 34-degree mark, but they did hover around that figure, providing relatively warmer air than the night before, according to Coyt A. Stookey, official Washington C. H. weather observer.

The Fayette Progressive School was closed, but all classes in the Washington C. H. School District were in session.

FATAL ACCIDENT — Penny Mossbarger, 15, of Greenfield, was killed at 2:10 p.m. Monday when she was thrown from the car in the photograph driven by her sister, Pamela, 19. Fayette County Sheriff's Chief Deputy Robert McArthur stated the auto slid on ice on Ohio 41, four-tenths of a mile north of Barrett Road and struck a fence belonging to Joe Hidy, 10098 Ohio 41.

Greenfield girl killed in crash

A 15-year-old Greenfield girl who was a passenger in a car driven by her older sister was killed in a single-car accident on Ohio 41-S, four-tenths of a mile north of the Barrett Road intersection, at 2:10 p.m. Monday.

Fayette County Sheriff's deputies reported Penny Lynn Mossbarger, 444 South St., Greenfield, was pronounced dead on arrival at Fayette County Memorial Hospital from injuries suffered in the crash about three miles north of Greenfield.

Chief Deputy Robert W. McArthur, who headed the investigation at the scene, said a car driven by Pamela D. Mossbarger, 19, of 444 South St., Greenfield, traveled out of control while heading north on Ohio 41. The auto slid broadside across the road and into a fence owned by Joe Hidy, 10098 Ohio 41-S.

The victim, a sophomore at Greenfield McClain High School, was thrown from the auto, and according to the report, the car dragged her body into a barbed wire fence on the Hidy farm. The auto came to rest on top of the youth's body, deputies reported.

Pamela Mossbarger suffered a scalp laceration in the mishap and was treated and released at Fayette County Memorial Hospital.

Fayette County Sheriff Donald L. Thompson and Sheriff's Sgt. William R. Crooks who were also on the scene stated they did not believe seat belts were in use.

The auto was only moderately damaged.

Born in Greenfield, Miss Mossbarger was a member of the First United Methodist Church, the senior youth fellowship organization at the church and the girls' glee club and Future Teacher Association at McClain High School.

She is survived by her parents, Dean and Edith Hughes Mossbarger, 444 South St., Greenfield; two sisters, Mrs. Donald (Pamela) Charles, of Greenfield, and Pamela Mossbarger, at home; two brothers, Phillip Mossbarger, of Tuscon, Ariz., and Pat Mossbarger, at home; and her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mossbarger, of Greenfield.

Services will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday in the First United Methodist Church, Greenfield, with the Rev. Clarence Dinnen officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Orab Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Murray Funeral Home, Greenfield, after 4 p.m. Wednesday.

Other traffic accidents caused by the slight rain which fell Monday afternoon and then froze on the roadways were as follows:

Gales hammer Great Britain

LONDON (AP) — Gales lashed Britain today, causing at least four deaths and damaging property from the north of Scotland to the English south coast. No immediate estimate of the damage was possible, but reports indicated it could be in the millions of dollars.

Police at various points imposed rigid speed limits on road traffic and forbade highsided vehicles from using some bridges.

Special thanks to the Kirkpatrick Funeral Home, Dr. Robert U. Anderson, the pallbearers, Rev. McDowell and to Etta Williamson and family.

Government rejects rail proposal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's rail transportation plan has been rejected by the federal government, apparently barring the state from any federal funding for rail lines now on the brink of abandonment, a federal official says.

Judd Gould, Ohio contact officer for the federal Rail Services Planning Office in Washington, said state officials probably will learn of the rejection today.

Gould said the rejection represents the latest failure by Ohio's state government to cope with the changing rail system.

Unless state officials realize they stand to lose 850 miles of rail line within the next three months, Gould said, the reorganization of the nation's railroads may be completed without Ohio taking part.

Unless Ohio begins to hustle, Gould said, millions of dollars in federal subsidies will be lost and the 850 miles of lesser-used track will be abandoned, possibly by the first of April. Employers located along those lines have said previously that losing the track will mean closing their factories.

Gould laid the problem at the feet of Gov. James A. Rhodes and, to a lesser extent, the General Assembly and the attorney general.

"Ohio has never received the kind of support from the governor's office, even the legislature, that was needed," he said. "Rhodes has never shown any appreciation for the problems they have."

He cited as an example the present status of the Ohio Department of Transportation.

"That agency is devoid of any rail experience," Gould said. "Under the Rhodes administration, they kicked out a lot of guys with rail experience that could have done a hell of a job.

"Now, they've got two guys — nice guys, but they're highway engineers with no rail experience. And the work that was put out was really inferior work," he said.

He said while Ohio had two highway engineers prepare the state rail plan, most states had 10 to 12 railroad experts working on their plans.

Gould said state rail legislation has been enacted with little understanding by most legislators of the problems involved and the attorney general has failed to work with federal rail planners on legal problems.

As a result, he said, "It's conceivable that Ohio is going to miss out on the potential subsidies."

The subsidies are included in a bill now in a Congressional conference committee. The bill is expected to go to President Ford this week providing 100 per cent federal funding for the track marked for abandonment, at least for one year.

The bill is expected to provide 90 per cent federal subsidy for the lines in the second year, Gould said, and probably will provide 70 per cent federal funding through the fifth year of the rail reorganization plan.

But unless Ohio can draft an acceptable rail plan quickly, Gould said, "they can't even use the 100 per cent subsidy."

Gould said his office has been frustrated in attempts to get Ohio state government interested in saving Ohio's rail system.

"Very few people have a vested interest in rails in Ohio," Gould noted. He said the small businessman will be affected by the rail problems, not big business, and that appears to be a major part of the problem.

Rail problems in Ohio have been spoken about for almost a year, but have drawn little attention except from Rep. Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo.

Wilkowski pushed through legislation creating an Ohio Rail Transportation Authority to deal with the problem and drafted a constitutional amendment which would allow Ohio to participate in the federal subsidy program.

But the amendment was defeated at the polls last November, and members of the rail authority were not appointed until about the first of this year.

As a result, Gould said, Ohio lags badly.

Ohio's problems are tied to reorganization of seven bankrupt rail lines in the Northeast and Midwest. Under federal law, the lines will become a government-supported private railroad named the Consolidated Rail Corp., or ConRail.

The law which created ConRail specified it has to aim at making a profit, and its sytem plan calls for dropping rail sections which are not paying their way. That includes the 850 miles in Ohio.

But to alleviate the economic problem caused by abandoning the lines, Congress promised a subsidy program which would allow the state to pick up part of the loss, with the federal government picking up the rest.

It is that subsidy program which now is undergoing final touchups in the congressional conference committee. And it is from that subsidy program which, Gould said, Ohio may be excluded.

City Council

fund for upkeep on the grounds. She did not claim to like cutting these funds, but said Council had to live within the budget the voters had established.

She and Council member James Ward were the only two members who began to approach the details of where the budget might be cut. Ward said although his ideas might be unpopular, it was time someone got to the "nitty-gritty" of the matter.

"If Council needs an axe man, I'll start," Ward said. He suggested not hiring policemen to replace the two recent department retirees, combining the police and fire departments into one unit, getting rid of the building inspector, and eliminating holiday and overtime pay for policemen and firemen. These are not firmly studied recommendations, he stressed, they're just ideas, but everyone seems "afraid" to let their ideas on budget cuts be seen, he said.

Wilson said he felt Council should "cut to suit the pattern" presented by voters, but offered no details on where the cutting should take place. He felt the debt on municipal parking lot No. 2 should be bonded over 20 to 25 years to free some monies there and the city manager should continue to his efforts to free part of the inside millage for general operating money. If the debt on the lot is bonded, he said, the budget commission might be more inclined to allow return of some of the millage.

Morris then said that he could not see the 24 per cent across the board cut proposed by the finance committee. If cuts are made, priorities should be established, he said. Cutting all street lights may tend to harbor crime, but that is better than not having a policeman (due to department cuts) available to respond to a call when a criminal has been seen under the lights. He then turned to the audience (which included three firemen) and said he definitely would not tell city employes that they would just have to go without first trying an income tax.

In order to avoid creating the impression that Council was "ramming" the tax on the citizens, he suggested passing an ordinance for a half per cent tax to become effective in 90 days. That way if a petition is circulated to remove the tax, it can be done before the first penny is collected, Morris said. In this way, the voters do have a choice in the matter. He concluded by saying that Council had never "alley fought" to convince the taxpayers that an income tax was needed.

Fisher responded to these statements by saying he would "applaud anyone who could 'sell' an income tax," and he did not want personnel cuts. However, he added, until he had "proof" that the voters wanted it, he felt budget cuts were the only solution.

Fisher then suggested that Council authorize the city manager to meet with department heads to investigate where budgets could be trimmed.

Council chairman Joseph O'Brien then summarized the points presented thus far in the discussion. He cited cutting the cemetery fund, having the city manager meet with department heads, imposition of a half per cent income tax, the opposition to personnel cuts and the bonding of the parking lot.

Wilson noted that since the city had lost its requested 2.3 mills in taxes which were presented on the November ballot and stood to lose two more mills at the end of 1976, revenue sharing funds for 1977 might be eliminated altogether.

Fisher agreed and made a motion that Council authorize the city manager to investigate possible budget cuts and prepae the mechanisms for placing the previously-defeated 2.3 mills in tax levies on the primary ballot June 8. After considerable discussion, the motion passed by a 6-1 vote with Morris opposing it.

Cook then returned the discussions to an income tax and asked Fisher how many signatures he would need to see on a petition before he would vote for an income tax. Fisher said he could not set a number, but Cook demanded one saying that Council can't ask the citizens to circulate petitions for a tax if it will be ignored anyway.

Half jumping out of their seats, Fisher and Mrs. McCullough said they "aren't asking anyone" to get petitions.

Cook, obviously confident that petitions would be circulated, again asked what number would be required. Fisher finally relented that if he saw 2,000 signatures he would be convinced, and Mrs. McCullough reluctantly agreed. O'Brien said 1,000 would sufficently convince him.

Ward said he was inclined to simply let the voters petition to place an income tax on the ballot themselves if they were interested in seeing one.

At 5:30 p.m., a motion to adjourn was presented, and it was approved by a 6-1 vote.

Ward objected saying that Council had "accomplished nothing." "If we can't unite. . .how can we say (to the citizens) 'this is the best road.' "

He said when a business has more expenses than revenue, it cuts services, and indicated that a greater effort should be made to outline a plan for cutting the budget.

Carter leads in Iowa tally

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter says he's "tremendously encouraged" by backing given him by Iowa's Democrats in the nation's first contest among presidential hopefuls or grassroots support.

Carter, who led a field of six candidates for the party's presidential nomination in voting during Monday's precinct caucuses, credited "a large and dedicated group" of volunteers for his success in Iowa.

With reports from 2,080, or 82 per cent, of the state's 2,530 voting precincts counted, Carter held 27.7 per cent of the delegates picked for March 6 county conventions. The county meetings are the next step in selecting Iowa's 47 national convention delegates.

Sen. Birch Bayh of Indiana was second with 13.3 per cent of the delegates, followed by former Sen. Fred Harris of Oklahoma with 10.1 per cent.

Stock list still mixed

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed today, running up against profit taking pressures in an extremely busy session on Wall Street.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was down 2.13 at 941.59, while gainers maintained a moderate over-all lead over losers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said the near-record pace of activity resulted from heavy profit taking piled on top of continued buying prompted by signs of an improving economy and the recent decline in interest rates. There appeared to be no decisive reaction in the market either way to President Ford's State of the Union Message Monday night.

Middle South Utilities was the most active issue on the Big Board, unchanged at 16. A 403-100-share block traded at that price.

The NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks slipped .06 to 52.01. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was off .02 at 92.83.

Volume on the Big Board reached 17.20 million shares over the first two hours.

Poor driving in bad weather

One of the most dangerous people on the road is the fellow who regards bad weather as a challenge rather than as a signal for caution. When driving conditions are poor he behaves as though it were a point of honor to take no notice. He bulls his way through fog, rain, sleet, snow; he skates across ice patches and wet-slick places, speed unslackened and a curl of disdain on his lip for drivers old-maidish enough to slow down.

That kind of driver is a menace to everyone else on the road - not to mention hemself. He adds a further dimension to the hazards of travel. Those hazards are bad enough on a dry straightaway in clear weather; They're worse when a tricky road surface and uncertain visibility are added to the equation, and worst of all when someone is barreling along without regard to conditions.

On the road you can't do much about the driver who takes bad weather as a challenge. But you can avoid being one.

WASHINGTON CALLING...By Marquis Childs

The world won't wait

SAN FRANCISCO — Being out of the country at the start of a new year — and particularly a new presidential election year — gives one a different perspective on events. Most important, it lets you know there's a whole world out there with lots of problems that need solving and lots of issues that require careful consideration.

The trouble is that we here in the United States often forget that when we can least afford to do so. To us, as 1976 was ushered in, it was the start of the Year of Decision, which would end with a new president, elected by the people, putting together a new government. Nothing else can be allowed to interfere with our concentration on choosing a new national leader.

But the world beyond our borders keeps functioning while we play our electoral games. Whether near or far, whether in Angola or in Mexico City, the tides of change will not stand still.

So much of the past is taken for granted, and nowhere does that apply more aptly than to Mexico, where I have just been. You feel no one really cares. It is this attitude that may have inspired a friend with broad knowledge of and participation in government to suddenly say: "What would you think if there was a Cuba on your southern border with a population of 55 million or more to cope with?"

This was a largely rhetorical question, since there is general agreement that Mexico is stable, at least on the surface, even though the government of President Luis Echeverria has used rugged means to suppress uprisings, like the Sept. 23 movement.

Echeverria has endeavored through the United Nations and his extensive travels around the world to line up Latin America with the Third World. His Charter of Economic Rights and Duties of States, an attempt to strike a balance between the raw material production of the underdeveloped nations and the prices of the manufactured goods of developed countries, drew approval in the U.N. General Assembly by a vote of 114 to 3 with 11 abstentions. One of the three "no" votes was from the United States.

The opposition in Washington puts this down to Echeverria's wish to become a Third World leader and, when his six-year term ends in December, U.N. secretary general.

The conventional diplomacy of the past seems both too little and too late. But what might take its place no one seems to know or, for that matter, to care.

The dependence south of the border on the United States is great. Tourism has consistently supplied more than $600 million annually, an essential element for Mexico's balance of payments.

In the past few years, government financing has created a brand new resort area at Cancun in the Yucatan Peninsula out of what was once a swamp. Already, 12 hotels have gone up, many like the Cancun Caribe handsomely designed on the luxury scale at a $90-a-day rate that included two meals. Slick magazines in the United States are touting this newest Caribbean playground.

It is in Yucatan that the new Mexico confronts the relics of the great civilizations that flourished here before the Spanish conquest. And it is in the Yucatan that one can get a quick idea about what happens to a civilization that cares only about itself and thinks the world ends at its borders.

The Mayan warriors atop their temple could hardly have forseen this new civilization nor could they have been prepared for the decline and fall of what must have seemed a solid, if highly rigid, way of life.

They were too much interested in themselves to see the world moving fast towards them. And, in the end, luxury hotels replace the glories of past ages, professors seek to decode the Mayan tongue, and an ancient and great civilization is remembered for its ruins.

So it could be with us. The world is moving fast but we decide to ignore it while we go through our quadrennial exercise of choosing a leader. One wonders.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 21

ARIES
(March 21 to April 20)

You should win top-grade returns from your efforts now. Adhere to well-tested procedure. Emphasize your individualism and perceptiveness.

TAURUS
(April 21 to May 21)

Curb an inclination to take on more than you can reasonably handle. You will only scatter energies and accomplish less in the long run.

GEMINI
(May 22 to June 21)

How you accept vicissitudes AND advantages will mean the difference between just getting by and doing well. This day has the makings of a big success story if you are alert.

CANCER
(June 22 to July 23)

Small matters may conspire to try and keep you from accomplishing what you set out to do - and must. Be firm! Direct energies only to worthwhile areas.

LEO
(July 24 to Aug. 23)

An old acquaintance will do you a very good turn - quite unexpectedly. In fact, your relationships with others, generally, should be unusually congenial.

VIRGO
(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Don't permit trifles to be blown out of proportion. The mountain which grows from a molehill is usually unbelieveably difficult to conquer.

LIBRA
(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Keep plans flexible; changing situations could make revision necessary. On the personal side: romance and cultural interests highly favored.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

You are one of the few in a position to take strong and progressive action now, but be careful not to make too many waves. A certain amount of discretion needed.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Influences somewhat adverse toward financial matters. Don't make unnecessary purchases and don't let your natural optimism led you into speculative ventures.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Information needed to consummate a business deal now forthcoming. With the added facts on hand, proceed as originally planned.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Some difficulty in personal relationships indicated. Persons close to you may be unresponsive, even hostile to your plans. But hold your temper lest small arguments escalate out of all proportion.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Neither borrow nor lend now. Even small, "friendly" transactions are likely to cause some unpleasantness in the future.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with great pride, versatility and discrimination. Your goals are lofty ones and, with your many talents and perseverance, you usually attain them. If you take up an artistic profession - and you do have talents along this line, you would do exceptionally well at painting, dancing or playing a musical instrument. In other fields, you could succeed as a teacher, librarian, politician or writer.

Ohio Perspective

Solons hear pet peeves

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's lawmakers converge on Columbus every January with a new list of their constituents' pet peeves, usually armed with bills to make the necessary corrections.

This year was no exception, as senators and representatives flooded legislative hoppers with proposals affecting everything from barking dogs to glue sniffers and drunk drivers.

The number that make it through the legislative process is another matter, but in an election year—with all 99 House members' and 16 of 33 senators' seats up for grabs—who can say?

Rep. William G. Batchelder, R-93 Medina, brought in a bill making it a minor misdemeanor to harbor "any dog which makes unreasonably loud or excessive noise other than when indicating the presence of a trespasser ...." Owners unable to prove their dog's proper motivation could end up paying a $100 fine.

At least one member of the legislature, which has been tough on drunk drivers in recent years, wants to ease up a bit in one area. Sen. Donald J. Pease, D-13 Oberlin, suggests letting Ohioans whose licenses have been suspended for drunk driving use their vehicles to commute to their jobs.

In a related area, Sen. Neil F. Zimmers Jr., D-5 Dayton, believes too many motorists are on the highways without being able to see clearly. His new bill would require vision tests as a prerequisite to getting a license renewed.

Sen. Charles L. Butts, D-23 D-23 Cleveland, offered what sounds like a new wrinkle to combat glue sniffing, especially among school pupils where the problem has been most prevalent. He would require manufacturers to put into model airplane glue and similar products an additive to make sniffers ill.

Other measures would require pawn brokers to photograph customers to help trace stolen merchandise and require a state license for marriage counselling.

Under other pending legislation, Ohioans could fill up their own gasoline tanks at self service stations—allegedly for about two cents a gallon less and find the telephone numbers of police, fire departments, and ambulance services listed on pay telephones.

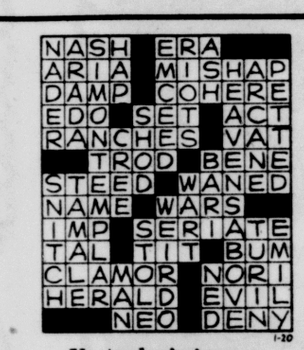

Rep. Gene Damschroder, R-85 Fremont, apparently feels some constituents' peeves may be against the lawmakers themselves for making too much money and serving in Columbus too long.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: THERE SHOULD BE TELLERS OF FUNNY STORIES TO VISIT THE SICK. A GOOD FUNNY STORY IS AN ELIXIR OF LIFE. — CHRISTIAN MORGENSTERN

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Her father wants proof boyfriend is eligible

DEAR ABBY: I am 16, nearly 17, and I'm an honor student. I have always had a good relationship with my parents-until now.

About three months ago I met the most wonderful guy in the world. I'll call him Sammy. It was love at first sight! Sammy is really 23, but we told my parents he is 20 because if they knew how old he was, they wouldn't let me go with him. Sammy is also divorced and has a 3-year-old son who lives with his ex-wife. We didn't tell my parents about the little boy. We just told them that Sammy was divorced.

Sammy wants to marry me, but we don't plan on getting married until I am finished with school.

The problem is my father. He has a very suspicious mind. He says I can't see Sammy again until Sammy produces legal evidence of his divorce.

Abby, I trust Sammy, but I'm afraid if I ask him to show my father proof of his divorce, Sammy will be so hurt and insulted at having been called a liar he will quit seeing me. Don't you think my father is being unreasonable?

I love Sammy so much, I can't live without him. Please help me.

SAMMY'S GIRL

DEAR GIRL: Sorry, I'm inclined to go along with your father. You and Sammy are already withholding facts about Sammy's real age and his son, which is deceitful. If Sammy doesn't want to bring all the facts out in the open, he's less than "wonderful." Be wise. Listen to your father.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow, age 64. Last year I met a man my age whose wife had died the year before.

We are in love. He would be an ideal mate except for one thing. He is very egotistical and likes to see how he registers with other wome (waitresses, especially.) In other words, he tries to make me jealous.

This is a small town and there are no men around with whom I can make him jealous, so I am unable to get even.

Please tell me how to handle this successfully.

HURT AND JEALOUS

DEAR HURT: Don't try to fight fire with fire unless you want your chances to go up in smoke.

Tell him frankly that you are hurt and jealous when he flirts with other women. (He'll be flattered.) If he doesn't cut out the flirting after that, you'll know he doesn't care how you feel.

DEAR ABBY: Four years ago I had a son out of wedlock. We talked of marriage, but it never came about.

I named my son after his father, (first, middle and last name) with his approval.

I would like to know if it is illegal or immoral to name an out-of-wedlock child after his father.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: It is not illegal. But if the father has a legitimate son named after him, two sons with identical names could create embarrassment and confusion. And to intentionally create such a situation, when it could have been avoided, I think is morally wrong.

DEAR ABBY: About that bride who didn't want any fat bridesmaids to ruin the appearance of her wedding: I hope her fat friends will remember her with "skinny" wedding gifts!

On this date—

In 1265, England's Parliament, representing the English counties, met for the first time.

In 1801, John Marshall was appointed U.S. Chief Justice.

In 1887, the U.S. Senate approved the leasing of Pearl Harbor in Hawaii as a naval base.

In 1941, Franklin Roosevelt became the first U.S. President to be inaugurated for a third term.

Ten years ago: India's new leader, Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, accepted an invitation to confer with President Lyndon Johnson in Washington.

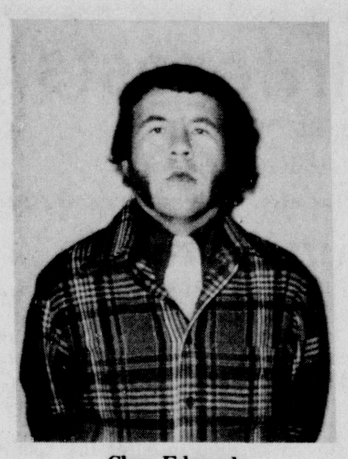

Five years ago: Postal workers in Britain went on strike, shutting off all mail service.

One year ago: Britain abandoned plans that had been made with France for a tunnel under the English Channel to link the two countries.

Today's birthdays: Comedian George Burns is 80. Actress Patricia Neal is 50.

Thought for today: The past, at least, is secure — Daniel Webster, American lawyer and statesman, 1782-1852.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the Virginia Convention in Williamsburg declared that the best way to oppose British oppression would be to open all American ports to trade with all countries except Britain.

Marriage vows exchanged in lovely holiday setting

Miss Cindy Mountcastle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Mountcastle of Jeffersonville, became the bride of Grayson Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Robinson, also of Jeffersonville. The Rev. Eugene Griffith performed the marriage ceremony in the Jeffersonville United Methodist Church, Dec. 27.

Miss Dawn Schlichter and Bud Mountcastle, brother of the bride, presented wedding selections. Mrs. John Baird, friend of the family, was the organist.

Four seven-branch candelabra, entwined with greenery made the background for the lovely candlelight ceremony. Poinsettias also were around the altar and each pew was decorated with an aisle candle also trimmed with greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of candlelight satin. Her A-line skirt with fingertip train, had a bodice with V-neckline and the cuffs on the long sleeves were trimmed with lace. Her only jewelry was a cross pendant, a gift from the groom. She carried a colonial bouquet of red spider carnations, and red sweetheart roses, with holly and pine.

Miss Dee Lange, maid of honor, wore a formal length green velvet dress trimmed with white lace. The Misses Lee Ann White, Julie Frost and Marlene Braun, served as bridesmaids. Their dresses were identical to that of the maid of honor, only in red velvet. All carried small hurricane lanterns adorned with holly and greenery and ribbon which matched their dresses.

Michael Young served as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Dean Keith, Bob Thornberry and Rick Roach.

Mrs. Mountcastle, mother of the bride, chose a formal length dress of salmon pink, and a corsage of mint green carnations. The bridegroom's mother chose a green dress with geometric designs, and a corsage of red carnations.

The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake. Hostesses for the reception held at the church were the Misses Kim Fleming, Robin Cunningham, Patty Persinger and Mary Jo Thornton. Marianne Arnold presided at the guest book.

Following a wedding trip, the couple is residing at 12378 Ohio Rt. 729, Jeffersonville.

He was assigned to live with a family of eight in Ascunsion. Paraquay. The oldest of the children, the only one who speaks English, was in Michigan as an A.F.S. student when Tim arrived. His family was very close and together they took Tim on many side trips to neighboring countries. Tim went to school while in Ascunsion where he was on the track team and played in a band. Tim feels the A.F.S. program is very worthwhile for through the exchange of students, countries have a better understanding of each other. Tim wants to visit Paraquay again some day.

The president, Mrs. Walter Parsley, conducted the business meeting. Reports were read. The president gave a favorable report on the sale of the Bi-Centennial cookbooks that the association is selling. The association voted to give $50 to both the Miami Trace and the Washington City AFS chapters.

Presidents' Council meets

The Fayette County Garden Club Presidents' Council met at Anderson's Restaurant for a noon luncheon and meeting. County fair flower show chairmen from each club were also present.

Following the meal, the meeting was called to order by the County Contact chairman Mrs. Willard Bitzer. The main topic for discussion by the group was the Fayette County Fair Flower Show to be featured at the Fayette County Fair the last week in July. Mrs. Robert Wilson, flower show chairman working with the County Fair Board, requested that each president be present or have a club member present to assist with set-up Monday and Wednesday of Fair week. A schedule for the show was presented by Miss Josephine Roush for discussion and revision by the Council. After discussion and with a few minor changes, the schedule was adopted by the group. This schedule will be published in April.

Committees appointed to handle details of the show were : Publicity-Miss Josephine Roush; pictures-Mrs. Arthur Schlichter and Mrs. Bitzer; and junior participation-Mrs. Wilson.

The specimen show was discussed and revised with a few deletions and additions made. The educational display will be in charge of Twin Oaks Garden Club.

It was decided to enter the county show for state competition and to attempt to meet all requirements for same.

A brief discussion was held on the proposed bus trip for all garden club members and guests, with the majority favoring a trip to Williamsburg, Virginia in the Bicentennial year. Mrs. Bitzer will check on details for this and report at the next meeting of the group which will be March 16, at noon at Anderson's Restaurant.

Those present and the clubs they represented included: Mrs. Jesse Schlichter and Mrs. Arthur Schlichter of Posey; Miss Jeanette and Miss Josephine Roush of Fayette; Mrs. Robert Wilson and Mrs. Dale Merritt of Washington; Mrs. Dwight Duff of Town and Country and the Contact Chairman Mrs. Bitzer, also of Fayette Club.

Teen talent show set April 10

The Washington C. H. Kiwanis Club finalized the date for this year's teen talent show at Monday's weekly meeting.

The annual event has been set for Saturday, April 10 in the Washington C. H. Middle School auditorium.

Also during the meeting, a short memorial service led by Rev. Gerald Wheat was held to honor Judge Reed Winegardner, who died in Columbus Monday morning. The late judge was a charter member of the club and he helped to arrange many special programs for the club.

Later, the club's board of directors voted to make contribution to the American Field Service (AFS) programs at both Miami Trace and Washington Senior high schools. Local AFS students have been special guests of the club in recent weeks. At next Monday's meeting, Marie Hatinguais a student at Washington Senior High School will speak on her native country, France.

During the board meeting a thank you note from Carl Whitaker of the Fayette County Progressive School was read. The note expressed the schools' appreciation for a recent contribution made by the club.

Attendance pins were presented to club members Ken Hughes for one year perfect attendance and Ora Burdge for two years perfect attendance at club meetings.

Prayer breakfast draws 31 persons

The inclimate weather slashed the teen prayer breakfast attendance to 31 Tuesday morning.

"Treasure Hunting" was the topic used by the Rev. Charles J. Richmond at the meditation time. Carol Bryant, a junior at Washington Senior High School, led the group in several songs accompanied by the piano by Linda Hollingsworth, a senior at Washington Senior High School. Jane Henry, a sophomore at Washington Senior High School, offered prayer.

Following the breakfast, Miss Susie Bailey, a teacher at Washington Senior High School, spoke to the group on "forgiveness." She encouraged the teens to "not only forgive, but forget because it is Christ like." She then dismissed the group with prayer.

The next teen prayer breakfast will be Tuesday, Jan. 27 at 6:45 a.m. All teens, grades nine through 12, are welcome.

Firemen rescue boy from under tressel

The rain which fell Monday afternoon and turned into ice resulted in a young Washington C. H. boy being stranded beneath a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Co. tressel near Gardner Park.

Washington C. H. firemen, who rescued the youth at 2:45 p.m. Monday, explained Tony Anders, 9, of 426 Comfort Lane, and Glidden Sparkman, 10, of 559 Frank St., were playing on the tressel and climbed down into the water of Paint Creek. The Anders youth slipped into the creek but was able to climb to higher ground under the tressel. Finding himself unable to make it to the top because of the ice, the Sparkman youth ran to the Thompson Transfer Co., 153 S. Hinde St., for assistance and told David Thompson to notify the fire department.

Washington C. H. firemen Ronnie Cox and Daniel Fowler waded into Paint Creek and carried the Anders youth to dry land.

Both boys were taken to the fire department to warm up and then returned to their homes.

Burglary, theft reports checked

A burglary and the larceny of a car battery and a bicycle were reported by Washington C. H. police today. The Fayette County Sheriff's Department reported several items stolen from a barn in Jeffersonville.

The home of Dorothy J. Hatfield located at 504 Broadway, was entered sometime between 1 p.m. and 6 p.m. Monday by someone who slit the plastic kitchen window with a sharp instrument. A 12-inch black and white television valued at $75 was stolen.

The battery was stolen from a car belonging to Delbert G. West, 637 Belle Aire Place, between 1 p.m. and 6 p.m. while the auto was parked in the Kroger store parking lot on Clinton Avenus. Police estimated the loss at $41.25.

A bicycle owned by Jay A. Steele, was stolen from the front of his 442 East St. residence between 5 p.m. Sunday and midnight, police reported today. The bike is valued at $110.

Sometime after Nov. 27 a 30-foot wooden extension ladder valued at $140, a space heater valued at $289 and a flat wagon and a 12-14 foot long wagon valued at $300 were stolen from a barn belonging to Bob Chaney, 1478 Bloomingburg-New Holland Road, located in Jeffersonville. Fayette County Sheriff's deputies are investigating the grand theft.

Vote support for free stamps

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Council of Churches' commission on poverty and economic justice voted to support elimination of the purchase price for federal food stamps.

The commission also supports ending the current itemized deduction system used to figure net income and replacing it with a standard deduction, maintaining present procedures which base eligibility on current income and opposes changes that would restrict the food stamp program to families below the official poverty level.

'Black fever' epidemic flops

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — An epidemic of "black fever" threatened for Monday by Dayton city employes who wanted to take the day off in honor of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King fizzled out, according to city officials.

Personnel division investigator Steve Morrissey said the number of workers absent was just slightly above normal for a Monday.

About 300 city employes signed petitions last week asking that they be allowed to take the new state holiday as a day off. City officials refused, contending that labor contracts could not be amended now to add the holiday.

Blue Lions meet Chillicothe

Panthers travel to Plains for important league game

The Miami Trace Panthers will visit the gym that was the site of last week's major SCOL upset when they take on Madison Plains tonight in an important league contest.

Always tough on their home court, the Golden Eagles handed Circleville its first league and regular season loss in two years last Tuesday night tightening the SCOL cage race. Now, Miami Trace must be certain the Eagles don't continue in their role as league spoilers.

A Panther win would tighten the race for the league cage crows even more as Circleville takes the night off. The only other SCOL teams taking the court tonight are Washington C. H. and Hillsboro and both teams will face non-league opponents.

The Blue Lions will travel to Chillicothe to take on a tough Cavalier five which is presently sporting a 7-5 record while Hillsboro takes on Lynchburg-Clay in a game that was postponed last week because of a power shortage.

It was back to the drawing board for coach Steve Stewart of Madison Plains at the beginning of the season after he lost all five starters from last season's 14-5 squad. Considering he had only one letterman, Rick Timmons, returning this season, Stewart has done a fine job restructuring the team.

Joining Timmons at the starting position this year, have been 6-3 forward Dave Wilson (14.6 average), forward Doug Sifirt, 6-5 center Gary Self and guard Dave Saunders. Although Stewart has little bench strength, the five starters are all capable of hitting in double figures.

Timmons is second to Wilson on the team in scoring with a 13.6 average and the other three starters are averaging close to 10-points a game.

The Golden Eagles played Miami Trace close until the fourth quarter in the two teams' first meeting at the Panther gym last month. The final period surge gave the Panthers a convincing 71-59 margin of victory.

Things should be tougher at Madison Plains which is reportedly not an easy place to beat the Golden Eagles, but the Panthers have been playing their best ball of the season. They have won three straight league games including victories over Wilmington and Greenfield since the Christmas break. Those wins have put the Panthers into the thick of the SCOL race and victory tonight would move them within a half game of Circleville.

Probable starters for the Panthers are Allan Conner and Dan Gifford at the forward spots, Rod Garringer and Art Schlichter at guards and either John Schlichter or sophomore Bill Hanners at the pivot.

Chillicothe seems to have a tradition of starting slow and finishing strong. The Cavaliers under seventh-year coach Tom Tuppett have won three straight sectional titles after rather unimpressive starts. This year may be no different.

The Cavaliers won only one of their first three games but have come on strong and taken six out of their last eight contest. So, the Blue Lions will be catching the Cavaliers on the upswing.

Tuppett has four main starters, who are led by 6-4 senior Fred Fairrow. The Cavalier center-forward leads the team with a 14-point average and he has been pulling close to ten rebounds a game.

Two 6-2 seniors join Fairrow in the starting five. They are Mike Cochenour (10.7 average) and Harry Brown (8.7 average). Mike Fairrow, a 5-10 junior, will be one of the guards.

Tuppett gets his fifth man from either Brad Beverly (6.5, sr.) Mike Buchanon (6-0, sr.) depending on the competitions strength.

In the case of the Blue Lions, who start a tall frontline composed of Duog Phillips, Ken Upthegrove and John Denen, Tuppett will probably go with the taller Beverly.

OSU outlasts Illinois

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — "It was a triumph for pride and patience," said Fred Taylor.

The Ohio State basketball coach leaned back in his chair in his hideaway office in St. John Arena Monday night, moments after the Buckeyes outlasted Illinois 64-63.

Mark Bayless' basket with nine seconds left provided the margin snapping a seven-game losing spell. It was the Buckeyes' first victory in six Big Ten games.

"We sure hadn't filled up the place with victories. That's five games by a swing of 11 points," said Taylor, whose team is 5-9 overall.

"Really," said the man who has coached seven Big Ten champions in his 18 seasons, "we've only played one truly poor game. That was against Tulane.

"But I never felt like at anytime our kids weren't making an effort."

Bayless led the charge with 14 points, two more than Mike Daugherty, Fred Poole and Larry Bolden. "That's the best game Mark has played all-year by far," said his coach.

Lou Henson was upset after his Illinois team dropped to 2-4 in the conference and 9-6 for all games.

"We made a lot of foolish passes. It was no better than an average game for us," said the Illini's first-year mentor.

"I won't say who it will be, but there will be a lineup change before the next game. I didn't like what I saw out there," said Henson.

The Illini muffed two opportunities in the closing seconds. Otho Tucker missed a field try try. Audie Matthews, whose 13 points led the visitors, tried an errant rebound tip.

"We wanted someone to get a good shot," Henson explained his final-second strategy.

Indiana retains grip on cage poll lead

By The Associated Press

Indiana, with a pair of convincing Big Ten victories, maintained its stranglehold on the No. 1 spot and up-and-down again Wake Forest went down again in The Associated Press major college basketball poll released today.

Indiana whipped Michigan State 69-57 and then clobbered Illinois 83-55 last week, and a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters responded by naming the Hoosiers first on 62 of 63 ballots cast. Indiana, now 14-0 and only one of three undefeated teams in the Top 20, polled 1,258 points.

The next three spots remained the same. Maryland, 13-1, was second with 1,033 points, Marquette, 11-1, third with 952 and Nevada-Las Vegas, 18-0, fourth with 816.

Wake Forest, which held the No. 5 spot last week, shot into the poll three weeks ago with stunning upsets of North Carolina and North Carolina State in the Big Four Classic, only to lose stature the following week with a loss to Virginia. And last week, the 11-3 Deacons lost a pair to Clemson and North Carolina, dropping all the way to 14th.

Moving into the fifth spot was North Carolina, seventh last week. The 12-2 Tar Heels got 592 points after Atlantic Coast Conference victories over Wake Forest 99-74 and Duke 89-87.

UCLA, 13-2, moved from eighth to sixth with victories over Stanford and California. The defending national champion Bruins, after being surprised by Oregon State the week before, regained enough stature to poll 576 points.

Rutgers, the third undefeated team at 13-0, climbed from 10th to seventh by beating Columbia 94-65 and Bucknell 105-82. The Scarlet Knights got 541 points from pollsters.

Eighth was Washington, which slipped from sixth last week after a 72-70 loss to Oregon State. The Huskies, 14-1, got 516 points. They were followed by St. John's, 13-1, with 505 points, and Tennessee, 12-2, with 302. St. John's had been 12th the week before but beat Hawaii 74-71 in overtime and Villanova 57-53. Tennessee slipped one notch from ninth after a tough SEC loss to Vanderbilt.

North Carolina State, 12-2, which dipped to 13th last week, lost 87-69 to Maryland last week but the Wolfpack redeemed itself with a thrilling 68-67 upset of rival North Carolina Sunday to move up to 11th with 292 points.

Al Michaels' ghost used to haunt Cincy announcer

By PHIL LEWIS
Record-Herald Sports Editor

Marty Brennaman, who will begin his third year as the voice of the Cincinnati Reds this spring, said his main worry after joining the baseball team was "the ghost of Al Michaels."

The 34-year-old native Virginian, speaking before a record crowd at the Fayette County Cattlefeeders Association banquet at the Mahan Building Monday night, said Michaels, who was his predecessor on the Reds network, was a tough act to follow.

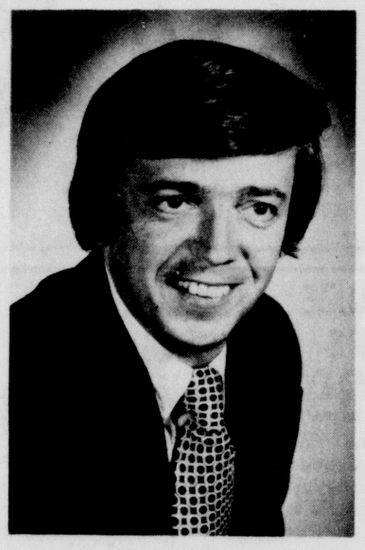

Michaels took the broadcasting job with the San Francisco Giants opening up the announcing position with the Reds. According to Brennaman, many people still very much remembered and liked Michaels after he left for the Bay Area and this produced a lack of self-confidence in the speaker.

During spring training in Brennaman's rookie year behind the mike with Joe Nuxhall, the Reds were playing the Pirates at Al Lopez Field in Bradenton, Fla.

Nervously, Brennaman opened the broadcast with "Good afternoon, this is Marty Brennaman along with Joe Nuxhall bringing you the game between the Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates at Al Michaels Field . . ."

Obviously Brennaman was embarassed , but Nuxhall appreciated the young sportscaster's slip of the tongue saying that the baseball season hadn't even started and he already had new material for the banquet season.

Relating such humorous baseball stories—similar to the preceeding one which was told to the 383 persons attending last night's banquet—is how sportscasters such as Brennaman spend their time in the winter months.

MARTY BRENNAMAN

One ball player, who gives Brennaman usuable material on the banquet circuit, is Pete Rose.

During the World Series, Rose was on second base and noticed umpire Larry Barnett standing close by. Barnett was involved in the controversial play at the plate involving Ed Armbrister which led to threats on the umpire's life. Rose cautioned him to get away from second saying the guy in the stands with the rifle might be a bad shot. "That's Pete Rose," Brennaman said.

Between the interesting stories, Brennaman tossed in some of his opinions and observations on baseball before opening it up to questions from the crowd.

Although professional baseball was billed as the sport of the 1970's five years ago, Brennaman feels baseball is on its way back to the top.

Brennaman thinks veterans Bob Bailey and Mike Lum, who were picked up by the Reds in trades this winter, will help improve the ball club. He also predicts the Reds to win the National League West again this year, but he balks at going in farther with his forecasts saying a short playoff series is not always won by the best team.

Emerson Marting, a well-known Fayette County farmer and auctioneer, served as toastmaster and entertained the capacity crowd with some of his homespun humor.

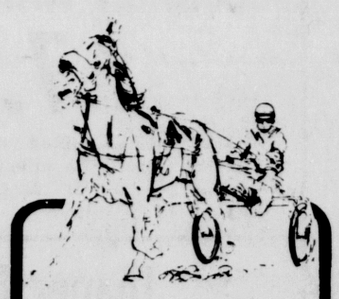

During the meeting conducted by association president Dave Luckhart, Fayette County Agricultural Extension agent John Gruber announced plans for the annual Cattlefeeders Association tour to be held Feb. 25-26.

Norminating committee chairman Norman Schiering presented the new slate of officers for 1976. Tom Lindsey was elected president; Wayne King, vice president, and John Fetters, secretary-treasurer.

Township directors elected to two-year terms were Marion Waddle, Concord; Russell Lanman, Green; Charles Hiser, Jasper; Karl Krieger, Jefferson; Max Schlichter, Madison; Roger Rapp, Marion; Arthur Schaefer, Paint; Loren Johnson, Perry; Langdon (Corky) McCoy, Union, and Robert Rife, Wayne.

Edgar McFadden of Paint Township was appointed to a one-year term on the board of directors to fill the unexpired term of the late Milbourne W. Barney.

Auxiliary activities reported

Hospital board reviews annual statistical data

The Fayette County Memorial Hospital board of trustees met Monday to receive the annual statistical report on the hospital operation and the activities of the hospital auxiliary.

The board also appropriated funds for the purchase of equipment, considered renewal of medial staff privileges, and authorized the hospital administrator to advertise for bids for kitchen and laundry equipment.

In general, the statistical report presented by hospital administrator Robert L. Kunz showed that the number of patients admitted during 1975 dropped from 1974, but the related services (x-rays, laboratory test, and others) workload greatly increased. This was due largely to an increase in the number of emergency room treatments.

The hospital auxiliary reported that it had 116 active staff volunteers, three life members, and 27 associate members. They contributed 12,343 working hours to the hospital operation during the year. In addition, the auxiliary purchased equipment for the hospital valued at $4,151.

Kunz said the areas in which the volunteer work is concentrated were the information booth, the gift shop, providing television service, the emergency room, x-ray department, maternity ward, laboratory and business office. He and members of the board of trustees commended the auxiliary on their outstanding contribution to the hospital.

Bids will be advertised for replacement of 75 per cent of all kitchen equipment in the hospital. Kunz noted that the equipment is more than 26 years old and is badly in need of replacement. The cost is estimated at $17,000.

He will also advertise for bids on three washing machine units. The estimated cost for these is also $17,000, and the new units would replace one large and one small machine currently being used.

All applications for renewal of staff privileges were approved by the board. Kunz said there are a total of 49 staff members.

The board also approved equipment purchases in the amount of $4,408. These include purchase of two medical carts at a cost of $8,500 each, and expenses for repairs on the boilers which total $1,600.

The statistical report for 1975 was also compared to 1974 records. In the recap given below, each figure is followed by the percentage increase or decline over the 1974 figure in the same category.

Kunz said there was a total of 3,950 admissions which was seven per cent lower than in 1974. This resulted in 24,794 in-patient days (-2 per cent). The average number of persons in the hospital each day was 66.92 (-2 per cent).

The percentage of occupancy for the entire hospital was 79.38 (no change), and the percentage of occupancy in the medical and surgical division was 88.62 (-3 per cent). The average length of stay for each patient was 5.95 days. This is one per cent lower than 1974, and two days under the national average, Kunz said. The average length of stay in the medical and surgical division was 7.01 days, also one per cent lower than in 1974.

There were 13,695 x-rays taken (+ 23 per cent); 73,647 laboratory test performed (+23 per cent), and 16,034 emergency patients (+11 per cent).

The hospital administered 3,905 physical therapies (+21 per cent), and 7,911 inhalation treatments (+12 per cent).

There were 818 major surgeries (-10 per cent) and 890 minor surgeries (-7 per cent).

Actual revenue per patient-day in 1975 was $105.41. The budget called for $95.65, and the national average is $122.46.

The actual expense per patient-day was $103.91 while the budget estimated $95.24. The national average is $120.36.

The total expense per admission was $652.22. The budget projected $656.72, and the national average is $874.52, Kunz noted.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Two new programs are premiering on TV tonight. One is "Popi," a CBS situation comedy. The other is public television's "The Adams Chronicles," a red-ink series about a blue-blood family.

The latter show, which ran $1.5 million over its original $3.9-million production budget because of delays blamed on a writers' strike and script revisions, is quite an ambitious project.

It dramatizes the lives of four generations of the historic Adams family of Massachusetts and the family's contributions to the nation, from pre-Revolutionary War times to around 1900.

After an advance peep at tonight's show, the first of 13 produced by WNET here, I'd say we may be facing the dawn of a new era in American public TV — namely, a first-rate dramatic effort not made by the BBC.

The show studies the life of young John Adams, his courtship of Abigail Smith and their marriage in 1764, and the start of his rise to prominence in American history from humble origins as a struggling lawyer and farmer in Braintree, Mass.

George Grizzard seems a mite old to be playing young Adams — the actor was 47 when the show was taped — but he still turns in a fine performance, as does Katherine Walker, cast as his strong-minded wife.

In a history show of this kind, one might expect wooden, stilted writing. But such is not the case here; the dialogue is believable, even sprightly at times and the show is good drama, not bad pageantry.

The premise of CBS' "Popi" series isn't too novel. It's about a Puerto Rican widower with two young sons. It replaces "Joe and Sons," which concerned an Italian-American widower with two young sons.

Tonight's opener has a hohum yarn about a runaway Great Dane and the boys' adoption of same. Still, the show has a nice, natural feel to it and doesn't depend on mugging or shouting for its laughs.

The acting of Hector Elizondo, cast as Popi, is particularly good. And wonder of wonders, the show doesn't stick to the usual apartment setting of sitcoms. It even goes on location in New York for some scenes.

With better scripts, "Popi" could prove the surprise hit of the mid-season.

Fawcett named

DENVER (AP) — Novice G. Fawcett, president emeritus of Ohio State University, has been appointed to the Education Commission of the States.

Fawcett was appointed by Gov. James A. Rhodes and joins the governor and five other Ohio residents on the commission.

Each member state is represented on the commission by seven commissioners, including the governor, two state legislators and four others chosen by the governor.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONISH
AP Newsfeatures

Since the United Nations General Assembly proclaimed 1975 as "International Women's Year," many countries have issued (or have announced the forthcoming issuance of) postage stamps honoring the occasion. The "year" will be observed with the theme "Equality, Development and Peace."

The U.N. Postal Administration's commemorative will be issued May 9 with first-day ceremonies at the U.N. in New York. The new stamp will have one design in denominations of 10 cents (blue, red, orange, gold and silver) and 18 cents (green, red, orange, gold and silver). It shows a woman and a man side by side within a circle enclosed with a wreath from the U.N. emblem.

First-day cover requests, in money orders, should be sent to P.O. Box 1586, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017, prior to May 9. Mint orders should be sent to P.O. Box 5900, Grand Central Station, New York, N.Y. 10017.

The U.S. will issue its commemorative stamp for International Women's Year in late summer or fall, according to the U.S. Postal Service. The U.N. proclamation for the event was endorsed in the United States by a presidential proclamation in January 1974.

The design of the stamp as well as the date and place of issuance will be reported in this column as soon as the details become available.

Israel will issue two new stamps dedicated to those soldiers who lost their lives in defense of their country.

The first stamp is a Memorial Day issue and is the most recent in the series of annual commemorative stamps honoring all who died for Israel. It depicts an eternal flame above a soldier's grave, encircled by a wreath of broken weapons.

The second stamp is entitled "In Memory of Soldiers Missing in Action." It will feature a memorial tablet with a tribute inscription and the Star of David. According to the Hebrew calendar, the 7th of Adar is the day on which Moses died and has been set aside as the national Day of Remembrance for those soldiers whose burial place is unknown. This new Israeli stamp will be issued on that day.

The new stamps will soon be available at your local stamp dealer.

The 125th anniversary of the first use of postage stamps in the American Indian Nations will be the central theme of the annual OKPEX exhibition held by the Oklahoma City Stamp Club (May 31 and June 1).

The Choctaw Nation, one of the largest of the Indian Nations, holds the distinction of being the first to use U.S. postage stamps. The first actual use was at Doaksville, Choctaw Nation, in June 1850. Later the Indian Nations were grouped together to form the Indian Territory. In 1907 the Indian Territory was combined with the Oklahoma Territory to form the State of Oklahoma.

More information regarding OKPEX, as well as the engraved souvenir card and other philatelic material to be issued, can be obtained by writing: Earle Pyler, OKPEX 75 chairman, P. O. Box 1121, Edmond, Okla. 73034.

OSMOND FANS MAKE PILGRIMAGE

LONDON (AP) — One hundred and forty members of the Osmond Brothers Fan Club here, the majority of them 17-year-old girls, have chartered a plane, paying upward of $500 each, to make a two-week pilgrimage to five U.S. cities.

The cities are associated with the lives and careers of the Osmonds. The group will attend four Osmond Brothers concerts to be given in two days in Allentown, Pa.

They will spend five days in Los Angeles, then go to Las Vegas for three days, visiting hotels where the Osmonds have sung. They will visit Salt Lake City, the Osmonds' home area, spending time at the Mormon Tabernacle, Mormon Temple, Brigham Young Monument, etc. The trip will end in New York.

NOTICE OF SALE OF BONDS

Sealed proposals will be received by the undersigned, the Village Clerk of the Village of Jeffersonville, County of Fayette, Ohio, at the office of said village clerk in the Municipal Building, North Main Street, Jeffersonville, Ohio 43128, until 12:00 o'clock noon, at the then prevailing standard time in Ohio, on February 5, 1976, at which place and time the bids will be publicly opened and read, for the purchase of Special Assessment Water Main Extensions Bonds, of said village, in the principal amount of $11,981.44, dated February 1, 1976, numbered from 1 to 12, both inclusive, of the denomination of $1,000 each, except bond No. 1 of the denomination of $981.44, and bearing interest at the rate of six and one-half per centum (6½ per cent) per annum, payable December 1, 1976, and semiannually thereafter on June 1 and December 1 of each year and maturing in the amount of $4,000 on December 1 of each year from 1977 to 1979, inclusive, except that $3,981.44 matures in 1977.

Anyone desiring to do so may present a bid or bids for said bonds based upon their bearing a different rate of interest from that hereinbefore specified, provided that where a fractional interest rate is bid, such fraction shall be one-eighth of one per centum or a multiple thereof.

Unless paid from other sources, both principal and interest are payable from limited taxes at The Fayette County Bank, Jeffersonville, Ohio, without deduction for exchange, collection or service charges.

These general obligation special assessment bonds of the village are issued for the purpose of paying part of the cost of improving certain property in the Village of Jeffersonville, Ohio, as described in Resolution No. 123, passed by council of the village on June 12, 1967, and in Resolution No. 137, passed by the council of the village on June 6, 1968, by constructing therein water main extensions, under authority of the general laws of the State of Ohio, particularly the Uniform Bond Law of the Ohio Revised Code, and pursuant to Ordinance No. 76-1, duly passed by council of said village on January 8, 1976.

These bonds will be sold to the bidder offering to purchase the bonds at the lowest net interest cost to the village, such cost to be determined by deducting the total amount of any premium offered from the aggregate amount of interest payable upon all the bonds from February 1, 1976, until their respective dates of maturity. No bid for less than par plus accrued interest will be entertained and the right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

All bids must be accompanied by cash, a bank cashier's or official's check, a certified check or a combination thereof, not drawn upon or certified by a bidder, payable to the village, equal to at least one per centum of the amount of the bonds being sold, upon condition that if the bid is accepted, the fiscal officer will deliver the bonds to the successful bidder within thirty (30) day of the date of the award, with the usual delivery papers, no-arbitrage certificate, and a complete, certified transcript of the proceedings, showing the bonds to have been legally issued, and the bidder will receive and pay for such bonds as may be issued as above set forth, said cash or check or combination thereof to be retained by the village as full and complete liquidated damages and cashed only if said condition is not fulfilled; or said cash or check or combination thereof to be returned promptly at the request of the successful bidder if the bonds and transcript are not delivered within the time specified herein.

No conditional bids will be received.

The approving opinion of Peck, Shaffer & Williams, bond attorneys of Cincinnati, Ohio will be furnished to the successful bidder at his expense as a term of sale. The village will pay for the printing of the bonds, which shall have printed thereon the text of the legal approving opinion of the issue.

It is anticipated that CUSIP identification numbers will be printed on these bonds, but neither the failure to print such number on any bond nor any error with respect thereto shall constitute cause for a failure or refusal by the purchaser thereof to accept delivery of and pay for said bonds in accordance with the terms of the purchase contract. All expenses in relation to the printing of CUSIP numbers on said bonds shall be paid for by said village, provided, however, that the CUSIP Service Bureau charge for the assignment of said numbers shall be the responsibility of and shall be paid for by the purchaser.

The bonds will be delivered by the village for payment without charge within the State of Ohio to the purchaser or to a bank designated by the purchaser. The expense of such delivery will not be considered in determining the highest bidder. Delivery at any other place shall be at the request of the purchaser and at his expense.

Payment for the bonds shall be made to the village in immediate or Federal Reserve funds on the date of delivery.

The bids will be considered and acted upon at a meeting of council of said village to be held February 5, 1976, or within three (3) days thereafter.

Bids should be sealed and endorsed: "BID FOR SPECIAL ASSESSMENT BONDS".

Opening lead — ten of hearts.

Let's assume you're in six notrump and West leads a heart. There seems to be very little play to the hand, so you win the heart with the ace and play a low spade to the jack.

East takes the king and returns a heart to the queen. When you play a low spade to the queen, West shows out and you discover that the hand is not quite as simple as you thought.

You have eleven sure tricks and your best chance for a twelfth is to guess the two-way diamond finesse. If you're a good guesser you make the slam, but you shouldn't really find yourself in this pickle. With proper play at the start, you can guarantee the slam against any and all distributions.

The correct approach is to lead a low spade to the ace at trick two, deliberately shunning the finesse. You then lead a low spade from dummy and, regardless of how the spades are divided, you now have twelve sure tricks.

Let's look at the actual case first. East can't afford to rise with the king, as that would hand you four spade tricks and the slam, so you win the spade with the queen.

Even though West shows out you are still in fine shape. All you have to do to insure the slam is play a low diamond to the ace and finesse the jack on the way back. Win or lose, you have twelve ironclad tricks.

Had West held the K-10-8-6 of spades, your task would have been that much simpler. East would fail on the second spade lead and you would easily score four spade tricks. The question of a diamond finesse would never enter the picture at all. You would have tricks to burn.

Fibroid Tumors: Non-Cancerous

I have fibroid tumors of my uterus. I am 42 and in good health. Even though surgery has not been considered in my case, I'm taking a long-range view and wonder if an operation is inevitable. If so, does the entire uterus have to be removed?

Mrs. T.A., Neb.

Dear Mrs. A.:

I admire your stoic attitude and am particularly impressed by your mature approach to the problem.

You seem to be free of the fears that beset many patients with fibroids.

Fibroids are non-cancerous (benign) tumors of the womb. They occur in about 25 per cent of women. They vary in size and number. They also vary in the location in the uterus. Some lie on the inner surface; others, on the outer coat of the uterus. Most of them lie deep within the muscle of the uterus itself.

By repeated examination, doctors can note the change in size of fibroids. These changes, in addition to symptoms of pain and prolonged menstrual periods, determine the treatment in each case.

The extent of surgery is decided on at the time of operation. Sometimes, the entire uterus and the ovaries are removed.

It is possible, in some instances, to "shell out" a fibroid from the uterus, leaving the uterus itself intact. This is known as "myomectomy" in contradistinction to "hysterectomy," or the total removal of the uterus.

Surgery is not the inevitable answer to all fibroids. In many instances, the fibroids spontaneously grow smaller and, in the absence of any symptoms, no surgery is performed.

Have doctors abandoned the old grandmothers' method of stopping nail biting? By that I mean, applying bitter aloes to the fingernails.

Mrs. C.J., Wis.

Dear Mrs. J.:

Grandmothers' remedies may have served the superficial purpose, but they certainly did not get to the root of the problem. For nail biting in children, or adults, is evidence of some inner tension and nervousness.

Unless the cause is learned and eliminated, even if the nail biting does stop, other symptoms of emotional tension will arise.

The application of unpleasant oils is a form of punishment. Punishment is contrary to the present concepts of treating nail biting.

Eastman Kodak Color Processing Labs are offering a special these days you may want to take advantage of. Like for every four reprints ordered from any combination of same-size Kodacolor negatives, three are regular price and the fourth is free. The offer runs until February 25. So now you know. And here's something else I picked up in the mail from Kodak Processing Lab: Starting now Kodak will make 16 x 20 inch Kodak Color Enlargements from most sizes of Kodacolor Negatives or from popular sizes of slides. How about that. You can get these enlargements either mounted on eighth inch pressed board, or unmounted. The price is quite reasonable.

More and more people are taking advantage of our portrait wallet special, like you know, you get 20 wallet-size color portraits made for your portrait print for only $4.50. Same for black and white portraits, but less money. Keep it in mind.

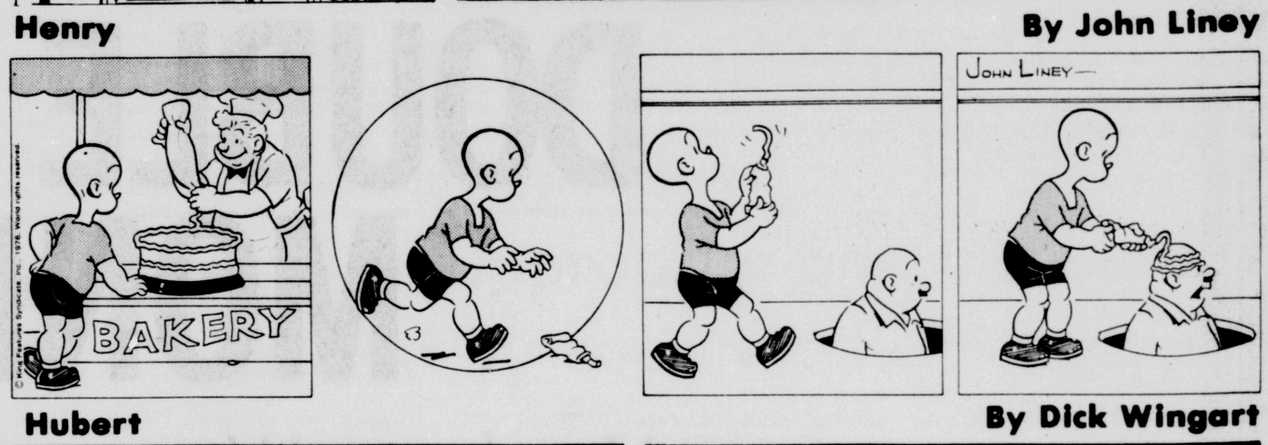

You wouldn't believe the beautiful color prints we are seeing from the Cibachrome process. We saw some more of Tim Carson's pix last week and he is really doing great work. Tim's stuff is 8 x 10 and his colors are wonderful. John Halliday is getting 11 x 14 Cibachrome paper and he's promised to show me some of his results as soon as he gets them mounted.

And a reminder to those who are interested in photo classes, CKFN classes will be starting soon. Drop in and get the story. And right now is the time to start thinking about the photo exhibit at the 1976 Fayette County Fair. Think abou it.
